Arrest Breaks Up 5-Month Spree Of Road Bandit Gang

Livermore Hog Rancher Identifies Accomplices In Robberies, Attacks

LANCASTER, Los Angeles County (UPI) — A band of highwaymen who terrorized motorists throughout the southwest during the past five months by posing as police was broken up today when their illiterate leader was caught because he refused to dim his car headlights.

Barrel chested Elton H. Hale, 42, an ex-convict and hog rancher, admitted leading the "red light" marauders during the raids in California, Arizona, Texas and Arkansas, during which several women and a 12-year-old girl were raped and motorists beaten, chained and robbed.

Hale, who drawled "I hate people" after his arrest by California Highway Patrolmen, identified his accomplices as E. J. Minor, 31, and Leroy Coates, 27, of Yuma, Ariz. They were arrested in the Arizona city.

Another man was being sought in Livermore where Hale had a hog ranch which he left in May, telling his wife and six children he was going "to pick cotton."

Since that time, investigators said, there were increasing reports of roadside gangs attacking and robbing motorists after forcing them to stop by using a red spotlight and siren.

That was the same technique used by executed "red light bandit" Caryl Chessman, who died May 2 in the San Quentin gas chamber for his Los Angeles attacks 12 years ago.

Hale was arrested with his 17-year-old son Robert as they drove on California 138 near this desert community. He refused to dim his lights when he met a highway patrol cruiser. The cruiser turned around to warn him about the lights when officers noticed the car was sought in an all points bulletin.

Hale — as did his accomplices — gave up without a fight. Officers found a .45 caliber pistol in the car along with a red spotlight that could be rigged up with special wiring under the dash. Hale admitted serving time in Arkansas for cattle rustling and robbery.

The boy was cleared of any implication in the highway crimes. He said he had been picking cotton near Yuma until his 5-foot-11 father picked him up Wednesday night.

"What they say I've done is true," Hale told his son after confessing to deputies. "I don't want you to do nothing like this. The cops will have to hold you here for awhile, but afterwards I want you to go home and take care of your mother and brother and sisters and work hard."

At his hog ranch near Livermore in Alameda County officers said they found "thousands of dollars worth of loot" taken from motorists, including jewelry, watches and money.

"I've always been kinda down on people," Hale told Los Angeles County Sheriff's Sgt. Donald E. Ellsworth. "I hate people.

"I've never done anything

Nikita Asks Arms Meet In Europe

Wants Special U.N. Assembly Session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev proposed today a special U.N. General Assembly session on disarmament, to be held in the Soviet Union or another European nation, early next year—after the U. S. elections.

He said that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had given him assurances that a summit meeting would be held.

Khrushchev said that unless there is a summit meeting the Soviet Union will not abide by its pledge to preserve the status quo in Berlin.

He suggested that the special assembly session on disarmament be held either in February, March or April, either in Geneva or perhaps in Moscow.

ANSWERS QUERIES

Khrushchev made the statement in answering questions at a luncheon of the U.N. Correspondents Assn.

He made these additional points:

1. The Soviet Union will have to resort to force outside the United Nations if it is continually thwarted in the world organization.

WON'T ACCEPT DAG

2. The Soviet Union will not accept a decision of the U.N. General Assembly supporting Dag Hammarskjold as secretary general even if it were approved by 99 per cent of those voting.

3. The Soviet Union recognizes the Algerian rebel government as the "de facto" government of Algeria.

Khrushchev restated his demand for a three-man presidium to replace Hammarskjold which would be made up of a socialist, a neutral and a capitalist member. This would give Russia a veto right.

U.N. Puts Off Crucial Debate On Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly today suddenly called off its night session as the East and West approached a critical clash on the issue of Red China's membership.

Fireworks on the China issue thus were put off until after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev makes another assembly address tomorrow.

No reason was given for the move, announced by Assembly president Frederick H. Boland as the assembly resumed its afternoon session. There will be morning and afternoon sessions tomorrow instead.

The announcement putting off the night debate came just before the assembly, by acclamation, admitted Africa's newly independent Nigeria as its 99th member.

The delegates had been expecting a bitter struggle on the floor tonight, amid rising Western concern over the position of new African nations

JUDGE WILSON TAKES OATH NEXT FRIDAY

Newly appointed Municipal Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, 42, will be sworn into office next Friday afternoon at the county courthouse.

Ceremonies will be held at 4 p.m. in the courtroom of Judge N. Charles Brusatori. Judge Wilson announced that Judge Richard M. Sims has agreed to be installing officer. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, vice president of the Marin County Bar Assn., will be master of ceremonies.

Wilson, an active Democrat, was named by Gov. Edmund P. Brown yesterday to succeed Judge Sims.

Prison Guard Hurt In Pistol Accident

San Quentin Correctional Officer Ernest O. Merian, 43, of San Anselmo was in critical condition in Marin General Hospital today after he accidentally shot himself in the stomach last night at the prison's main gate.

Merian was on the operating table for four hours as three doctors worked to save his life. He was given 11 pints of blood.

At 5:30 a.m. doctors said the officer would not be out of danger for at least 24 to 48 hours.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said Merian was just going on duty at the prison main gate at 11:45 p.m. when the accident happened. The guard was checking firearms and other emergency equipment, a routine procedure when a shift changes.

Officer A. J. Peterson, who was going off duty, said Merian apparently had trouble removing a .38 caliber revolver from its holster. As he took it out, the gun went off. The bullet struck Merian in the lower left abdomen and lodged near the base of his spine. Doctors were unable to remove the bullet, Frady said.

The Merians live at 41 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo, with their two daughters. Merian has been employed at the prison since Sept. 1, 1951.

Committee On Tamalpais Bonds Convinced Plan Is Sound One

(Voters of the Tamalpais High School District — who comprise three-quarters of all the people living in Marin—will go to the polls next Tuesday to decide the fate of a three-million-dollar program to expand Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais High Schools. Here is the last article in a series examing the background of the bond issue. See today's editorial on page 8.)

Unlike previous school finance measures submitted to voters in the Tamalpais High School District, the bond issue on next Tuesday's ballot has not been promoted and publicized in an all-out campaign by a well-organized group of backers.

In a way this is an anomaly. One would expect such an all-important measure to be backed by an all-out campaign.

But the trustees who put it on the ballot and the lay committee of taxpayers and parents who so thoroughly threshed out the expansion plans on which it is based had a different idea. They were so thoroughly convinced of the plan's absolute soundness that they were sure "it would speak for itself." Nobody who knew the facts and knew how the plan evolved could possibly vote against the bonds, they thought. (When the votes are counted next Tuesday night, the soundness or weakness of this view will be known.)

The present combined enrollment of Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais high schools totals 4,110. The combined capacity of the three plants is 4,148.

Next year the enrollment will rise to 4,500-plus. By the 1963-64 school year, enrollment will be up to 5,600-plus.

This means an 1,100 gain in three years and all of the 1,100 will be over and above present capacity.

The plan on which the three-million-dollar bond issue is based, would provide classrooms and other facilities to care for these 1,100 more students who are in the grades headed for high school in the next three school years. The bonds also would provide more than half a million dollars (included in the three-million total) to buy property (before rising land prices drive costs up out of sight) for a fourth high school in the district, which will inevitably be necessary in the years just after 1964.

The immediate necessity and the soundness of the plans are not the only strong arguments in favor of a yes vote Tuesday.

There is the matter of preparing Marin youth to meet the competition for college acceptance in the years immediately ahead. The population boom and the post-war birth-

Cuba Says U.S. Planes In Guatemala For 'Plot'

COMBINED AP & UPI

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa charged today American-made bombers were in Guatemala as part of a plot either to attack Cuba or to stage a faked Cuban attack on Guatemala.

Roa also told the United Nations General Assembly that the United States was planning an act of aggression from the American naval base at Guantanamo so as to provoke a conflict which would lead to a break of diplomatic relations.

Roa, speaking in reply to Guatemalan charges that Cuba was preparing an invasion of its territory, said the United Fruit Co. and the U.S. State Department were behind the assembling of planes and training of an invasion force in Guatemala.

Guatemala recently obtained six B-25 bombers at a cost of half a million dollars apiece, Roa said. He said bombers bearing Cuban military markings had been observed on Guatemalan airfields.

Roa charged that more than 100 American airmen and technicians had entered Guatemala to help prepare the "conspiracy." He said the White House" also was planning to break relations with Cuba by "aggression being prepared at Guantanamo."

Meanwhile, Fidel Castro's government today clamped secrecy on operations against a band of invaders who escaped to the mountains after landing

Many Stores Open Late Tonight

Marin streets, washed clean by rain, will be thronged with Friday night shoppers again tonight.

The forecast is for no rain to disturb the late shoppers, as stores in San Rafael, Corte Madera Center and Novato, along with some in San Anselmo, keep their doors open until 9 p.m.

Clear Skies Forecast For Next 5 Days

Fair weather except for some coastal clouds was forecast for the next five days by the Weather Bureau today.

The storm which brought the first measurable rain of the season passed over, but a few scattered showers persisted throughout Marin County this morning.

San Rafael received a trace of rain, Belvedere .03 of an inch, Tamalpais Valley .06, and Sausalito and Woodacre .01.

Temperatures are expected to continue close to normal. The forecast through Wednesday indicated a possibility of rain in the extreme northern part of the state early in the week, but none expected here.

LENA'S DAUGHTER MAKES DEBUT

'This Is Your Life' Wife Admits Fakery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Abraham Hahn tearfully confessed yesterday she did some acting of her own on the television show "This Is Your Life" to boost her daughter's stage career.

Mrs. Hahn, 44, called a news conference to confirm her husband's story that the May 4 Mother's Day salute to Mrs. Hahn was a "fake" and that the couple was actually estranged, although the show depicted the Hahns as one big happy family.

Hahn has filed a $500,000 suit against Ralph Edwards, master of ceremonies for "This Is Your Life" and the National Broadcasting Co. He said he was seeking a divorce from his wife at the time and they had been separated since 1955.

An NBC spokesman said the network and Edwards "were the victims of a carefully planned hoax."

Mrs. Hahn explained that she wrote a letter to Edwards asking that her 18-year-old daughter, Pauline, be featured on the program because she had overcome great physical handicaps. It turned out the producers were more interested in Mrs. Hahn and chose her for the special Mother's Day program.

Mrs. Hahn said she did not tell Edwards of her marital troubles because she did not wish to destroy the chances of publicity for her daughter who had appeared in several Broadway shows, and played the feature role in the road company of "The Diary of Anne Frank."

She said she posed as a social worker, using another name, in writing Edwards about her daughter. She said the show wrote back that they desired her for the program, not her daughter.

"I was not big enough to destroy this one chance," Mrs. Hahn said.

BIG DEBATE TONIGHT

Candidates May Take Off Gloves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican and Democratic Presidential rivals meet tonight in the second round of their televised debate, with indications it will be livelier than the first one.

Both Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon were relaxing here today before the hour-long session.

Since they first met before the TV cameras and radio microphones on Sept. 26, both candidates have gotten down to more rough-and-tumble politicking than they did before the first round, which many critics called a kid-gloves affair.

TOUGH TACTICS

Some of the tougher tactics are expected to show up as the two square off in a television studio setting designed "to suggest a feeling of warmth and comfort."

The candidates will be questioned by a panel of four newsmen on both foreign and domestic issues. There will be no formal opening statements, as there were in the first debate. Replies to questions will be limited to two and a half minutes.

The debate will originate in the big National Broadcasting Co. studio here and will be carried by the three TV networks and four major radio networks.

BAY AREA TIMES

In the Bay Area, the debate will be heard from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Kennedy will be on the left of the screen, Nixon on the right—as they were in the first debate in Chicago. Between them will be Frank McGee, an NBC newsman who will be moderator. They will be seated at a large desk which curves outward like a widespread horseshoe arrangement.

Nixon and Kennedy will step to nearby lecterns to answer questions. The lecterns will be covered by grass cloth, like that covering the curved wall in the background.

The four newsmen who will question the candidates in turn will be seated at a long desk facing the standard bearers. The questioners will be Edward P. Morgan of ABC, Paul Niven of CBS, Alvin Spivak of United Press International and Hal Levy Washington correspondent for the Long Island Newsday.

Cameramen occasionally will catch reaction shots of each of the candidates while the other is speaking.

Many viewers said after the first debate that the studio setting looked bleak and that Nixon appeared haggard and tired. GOP national headquarters said lighting and makeup had made Nixon appear wan.

Rebel Leader Asks Red Aid For Algeria

Abbas, premier of the Algerian "government-in-exile," was received warmly in the Soviet capital, but received no specific commitments from either Russian or Red Chinese officials.

The rebel "premier," speaking at the Tunisian ambassador's reception here, vowed Algeria would continue to fight for independence "until the colonialists understand the era of colonialism has ended."

Alexei Kosygin, deputy chairman of the U.S.S.R. council of ministers, said: "It is our sacred duty to help people liberate themselves and to give all necessary assistance to oppressed peoples."

But neither Kosygin, nor D. S. Polyanski, premier of the Russian republic, who attended the reception along with three marshals and other Soviet dignitaries, gave any indication what assistance would be given.

South Africa Must Select A President

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africans turned today to the question of who will be their first president after final returns showed the country has voted to become a republic.

The South African Press Assn. said the complete vote in yesterday's all-white referendum gave a 73,980 majority for a republic—849,958 votes to 775,978.

WORD ACCEPTED

Long before, however, South Africans had accepted the word of an electric computer that the pro-republic forces of Nationalist Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd had won. The computer had forecast a republican majority of close to 80,000 even while the anti-republicans were still ahead in early returns.

The republic is expected to be proclaimed early next year after Verwoerd presents to the Nationalist-dominated Parliament legislation making a president the chief of state instead of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II.

TWO MENTIONED

The present governor general Charles R. Swart, and Finance Minister Theophilus E. Donges were regarded as the two strongest possibilities for president.

Swart, 65, a former journalist and movie extra in the United States who as a child was a prisoner in a British concentration camp at the end of the Boer War, would be an obvious choice. He entered Parliament at the age of 24 and was Nationalist interior minister for 11 years before he was appointed governor general.

LENA'S DAUGHTER MAKES DEBUT

'This Is Your Life' Wife Admits Fakery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Abraham Hahn tearfully confessed yesterday she did some acting of her own on the television show "This Is Your Life" to boost her daughter's stage career.

Mrs. Hahn, 44, called a news conference to confirm her husband's story that the May 4 Mother's Day salute to Mrs. Hahn was a "fake" and that the couple was actually estranged, although the show depicted the Hahns as one big happy family.

Hahn has filed a $500,000 suit against Ralph Edwards, master of ceremonies for "This Is Your Life" and the National Broadcasting Co. He said he was seeking a divorce from his wife at the time and they had been separated since 1955.

An NBC spokesman said the network and Edwards "were the victims of a carefully planned hoax."

Mrs. Hahn explained that she wrote a letter to Edwards asking that her 18-year-old daughter, Pauline, be featured on the program because she had overcome great physical handicaps. It turned out the producers were more interested in Mrs. Hahn and chose her for the special Mother's Day program.

Mrs. Hahn said she did not tell Edwards of her marital troubles because she did not wish to destroy the chances of publicity for her daughter who had appeared in several Broadway shows, and played the feature role in the road company of "The Diary of Anne Frank."

She said she posed as a social worker, using another name, in writing Edwards about her daughter. She said the show wrote back that they desired her for the program, not her daughter.

"I was not big enough to destroy this one chance," Mrs. Hahn said.

BIG DEBATE TONIGHT

Candidates May Take Off Gloves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican and Democratic Presidential rivals meet tonight in the second round of their televised debate, with indications it will be livelier than the first one.

Both Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon were relaxing here today before the hour-long session.

Since they first met before the TV cameras and radio microphones on Sept. 26, both candidates have gotten down to more rough-and-tumble politicking than they did before the first round, which many critics called a kid-gloves affair.

TOUGH TACTICS

Some of the tougher tactics are expected to show up as the two square off in a television studio setting designed "to suggest a feeling of warmth and comfort."

The candidates will be questioned by a panel of four newsmen on both foreign and domestic issues. There will be no formal opening statements, as there were in the first debate. Replies to questions will be limited to two and a half minutes.

The debate will originate in the big National Broadcasting Co. studio here and will be carried by the three TV networks and four major radio networks.

BAY AREA TIMES

In the Bay Area, the debate will be heard from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Violence Increases At Schenectady G.E. Picket Line

NEW YORK (UPI) —A state of emergency was declared in Schenectady, N. Y., today as negotiators for General Electric Co. and the International Union of Electrical Workers met jointly with federal mediators here to seek an end to the six-day violence-marked walkout.

Schenectady Mayor Malcolm Ellis issued the emergency order after 11 persons were arrested today in picket-line clashes at the G.E. plant where workers went on strike yesterday.

A city spokesman said efforts were being made to contact Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for National Guard help should the violence increase.

Ellis and City Manager Arthur Blessing said all police have been called out, but have been unable to cope with the situation. The city fire department has been alerted to augment the police force.

The officials said the moves being made in fear of serious violence at the plant where about 3,500 pickets massed to prevent non-strikers from entering.

CRASH LINES

About 30 non-union employees crashed through the lines this morning but witnesses said 100 others were pushed back.

A major outbreak was prevented when G.E. officials appealed at the main gate, and urged non-strikers not to invite violence.

Among those arrested was IUE chief stop steward Joseph A. Mangino, who was charged with assault. Since the strike started nationally Sunday, 21 persons have been arrested in connection with the Schenectady picketing. The Schenectady IUE local did not vote until Wednesday to join the strike.

NEGOTIATING SESSION

The negotiating session began at federal mediation and counciliation offices in New York. G. E. chief negotiator Philip Moore headed the company team while IUE president James B. Carey led the IUE bargainineers.

Moore said he was "bringing nothing new" to the session. "Our position has been known for some time," he said. Carey had no comment.

According to Moore, fewer than 25 per cent of the total G.E. employees have been affected by the strike.

John L. Lewis Says Farewell To His Miners

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Eighty-year-old John L. Lewis, making his farewell to the Mine Workers Union he led for more than 40 years, counseled members to "protect your union, cling together."

Lewis, now UMW president-emeritus after retiring as president in January, bid a sad goodby to his coal miners at a testimonial banquet last night amid convention sessions here.

The man who fought miners' battles through the years, sometimes against the forces of the government, and who also founded the big labor unions in the steel, auto and other American industries, reported on his stewardship.

"I have grown old in your service," Lewis said. "It has become necessary for me to step aside.

"I can only say that I have served as sincerely and as faithfully as my capacities would permit. I have never been beguiled by the flatteries or inducements of the men with motives opposed to the welfare of the mine workers."

Lewis said he noticed more people are fairly well off today —more "plutocrats," he said, than in his own early days.

The miners' economic fights helped accomplish this, he added.

But Lewis said the UMW had not always been affluent or powerful. It was here he appealed to miners to keep their union strong.

GIRLS COVER TRIAL—Jackie McDermott, 13 (left), and Susie Althouse, 13, take copious notes covering a criminal trial in Marin Superior Court. CHILD-STEALING CASE

School Girls Watch Court Trial In Language Project

Three eighth-grade girls from Larkspur-Corte Madera School yesterday were "covering" a Marin Superior Court jury trial involving a Fairfax carpenter accused of child stealing.

Susie Althouse, Jackie Lynn McDermott and Sandy Pearson, each 13 years old, since Tuesday sat quietly in the court of Judge N. Charles Brusatori. They plan to return to court when trial resumes next Tuesday.

As part of a "job survey" project in the language arts class under instruction Roy Gustafson, the girls said they decided to interview Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety and other court officials. During the interview, they learned of the jury trial and got approval from court officials to "cover" the trial of Glenn D. Berry, 35.

Berry is accused of taking a 12-year-old Marin City girl for a drive up Mount Tamalpais. She jumped out of the car and ran to a ranger station for help.

Berry insists he was not the man involved. District Attorney Garety is prosecutor, and Carl Shapiro the defense attorney.

Gustafson, the teacher of language arts, has 36 students working on the "job survey" project. Each student interviews a person of his choice and then makes oral reports and turns in a written report on what he learned. The three girls covering the trial got approvals from their parents and the school principal, Gustafson explained.

They get daily assignments and work on lessons they missed at school on their own time, the teacher said. "The agreement was that they would make up their back lessons."

Each morning they report at school, then take a bus to the courthouse, where they sit in the front row of the audience section, taking notes as witnesses testify.

Of the 3,305 freshmen entering Istanbul University in Turkey this year, 1,000 will be majoring in literature.

San Rafael Elks Club Starts Building Survey

A survey is being made for the San Rafael Elks Lodge which may result in a joint venture by the Elks and a leading construction company to replace the present Elks Club at Fifth Avenue and B Street with a new clubhouse in the Marin Professional Center.

Coldwell, Banker and Co., San Francisco real estate firm dealing principally in commercial properties, is investigating the demand for such property in San Rafael. The investigation is being made on behalf of Haas and Haynie Construction Co. of South San Francisco, a leading commercial-industrial builder.

Behind the survey is desire of directors of San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, to sell the Fifth Avenue and B Street property and locate at a site removed from downtown San Rafael.

The Elks board of trustees, it was learned today, has taken an option on a six-acre site on a ridge north of Marin Professional Center, opposite Terra Linda in the Civic Center vicinity, from Harry Heifetz Co., real estate investment firm.

The Coldwell-Banker survey, it was reported, is expected to be completed this month.

By terms of the plan, Haas and Haynie would take a long-term lease on the present Elks Club property, erect a large modern office building, and from its share of rental proceeds, the Elks Lodge would finance a new home away from the downtown area.

Arthur McDevitt, exalted ruler of San Rafael Lodge, considers this possibility "a wonderful opportunity for the lodge to obtain new up-to-date facilities," he said.

A Haas and Haynie spokesman said that under present development conditions in San Rafael, the Fifth and B site seems naturally better adapted to office than fraternal uses.

"We are feeling out what the market is before seeking commitments on leases," he said.

Senior Group Plans Tour Of Prison

Marin's senior citizens will have a chance to tour San Quentin Prison, have dinner in the prison dining hall, and watch a concert put on by the inmates on Nov. 15.

Manny Charnow, chairman for the event, announced today that Warden Fred R. Dickson has invited the senior citizens for dinner at 1:30 p.m. on Nov. 15. Charnow estimated that 200 to 300 will attend.

Tickets will be distributed at the Marin Senior Assn.'s regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 22, at Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo. Only those who attend the meeting in person will get tickets, Charnow said that some guests will be invited from the County Hospital and Farm in Lucas Valley, as well as senior citizens recommended by the county welfare office.

Charnow urged all who have cars to drive to the prison, where there is plenty of parking space. For those who have no cars, a bus will make pick-ups in front of Fairfax Theater, San Anselmo bus station, and the San Rafael Senior Center at 1825 Fourth Street. Two pick-ups will be made, at 11:30 and 12:30, according to Charnow.

"We wish to thank the businessmen from the county, who are footing the bill," said Charnow.

Dinner will be followed by inmate entertainment. Among outside entertainers invited by the warden is Wishard Brown of Greenbrae, amateur magician known as Wishard the Wizard.

Violence Increases At Schenectady G.E. Picket Line

NEW YORK (UPI) —A state of emergency was declared in Schenectady, N. Y., today as negotiators for General Electric Co. and the International Union of Electrical Workers met jointly with federal mediators here to seek an end to the six-day violence-marked walkout.

Schenectady Mayor Malcolm Ellis issued the emergency order after 11 persons were arrested today in picket-line clashes at the G.E. plant where workers went on strike yesterday.

A city spokesman said efforts were being made to contact Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for National Guard help should the violence increase.

Ellis and City Manager Arthur Blessing said all police have been called out, but have been unable to cope with the situation. The city fire department has been alerted to augment the police force.

The officials said the moves being made in fear of serious violence at the plant where about 3,500 pickets massed to prevent non-strikers from entering.

CRASH LINES

About 30 non-union employees crashed through the lines this morning but witnesses said 100 others were pushed back.

A major outbreak was prevented when G.E. officials appealed at the main gate, and urged non-strikers not to invite violence.

Among those arrested was IUE chief stop steward Joseph A. Mangino, who was charged with assault. Since the strike started nationally Sunday, 21 persons have been arrested in connection with the Schenectady picketing. The Schenectady IUE local did not vote until Wednesday to join the strike.

NEGOTIATING SESSION

The negotiating session began at federal mediation and counciliation offices in New York. G. E. chief negotiator Philip Moore headed the company team while IUE president James B. Carey led the IUE bargainiiners.

Moore said he was "bringing nothing new" to the session. "Our position has been known for some time," he said. Carey had no comment.

According to Moore, fewer than 25 per cent of the total G.E. employees have been affected by the strike.

John L. Lewis Says Farewell To His Miners

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Eighty-year-old John L. Lewis, making his fareweli to the Mine Workers Union he led for more than 40 years, counseled members to "protect your union, cling together."

Lewis, now UMW president-emeritus after retiring as president in January, bid a sad goodby to his coal miners at a testimonial banquet last night amid convention sessions here.

The man who fought miners' battles through the years, sometimes against the forces of the government, and who also founded the big labor unions in the steel, auto and other American industries, reported on his stewardship.

"I have grown old in your service," Lewis said. "It has become necessary for me to step aside.

"I can only say that I have served as sincerely and as faithfully as my capacities would permit. I have never been beguiled by the flatteries or inducements of the men with motives opposed to the welfare of the mine workers."

Lewis said he noticed more people are fairly well off today —more "plutocrats," he said, than in his own early days.

The miners' economic fights helped accomplish this, he added.

But Lewis said the UMW had not always been affluent or powerful. It was here he appealed to miners to keep their union strong.

Record For Tax Intake

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The city of Dallas has collected more than 99 per cent of the taxes owed it for the past fiscal year. Officials think this may be the highest percentage in the nation.

School Girls Watch Court Trial In Language Project

Three eighth-grade girls from Larkspur-Corte Madera School yesterday were "covering" a Marin Superior Court jury trial involving a Fairfax carpenter accused of child stealing.

Susie Althouse, Jackie Lynn McDermott and Sandy Pearson, each 13 years old, since Tuesday sat quietly in the court of Judge N. Charles Brusatori. They plan to return to court when trial resumes next Tuesday.

As part of a "job survey" project in the language arts class under instruction Roy Gustafson, the girls said they decided to interview Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety and other court officials. During the interview, they learned of the jury trial and got approval from court officials to "cover" the trial of Glenn D. Berry, 35.

Berry is accused of taking a 12-year-old Marin City girl for a drive up Mount Tamalpais. She jumped out of the car and ran to a ranger station for help.

Berry insists he was not the man involved. District Attorney Garety is prosecutor, and Carl Shapiro the defense attorney.

Gustafson, the teacher of language arts, has 36 students working on the "job survey" project. Each student interviews a person of his choice and then makes oral reports and turns in a written report on what he learned. The three girls covering the trial got approvals from their parents and the school principal, Gustafson explained.

They get daily assignments and work on lessons they missed at school on their own time, the teacher said. "The agreement was that they would make up their back lessons."

Each morning they report at school, then take a bus to the courthouse, where they sit in the front row of the audience section, taking notes as witnesses testify.

Of the 3,305 freshmen entering Istanbul University in Turkey this year, 1,000 will be majoring in literature.

San Rafael Elks Club Starts Building Survey

A survey is being made for the San Rafael Elks Lodge which may result in a joint venture by the Elks and a leading construction company to replace the present Elks Club at Fifth Avenue and B Street with a new clubhouse in the Marin Professional Center.

Coldwell, Banker and Co., San Francisco real estate firm dealing principally in commercial properties, is investigating the demand for such property in San Rafael. The investigation is being made on behalf of Haas and Haynie Construction Co. of South San Francisco, a leading commercial-industrial builder.

Behind the survey is desire of directors of San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, to sell the Fifth Avenue and B Street property and locate at a site removed from downtown San Rafael.

The Elks board of trustees, it was learned today, has taken an option on a six-acre site on a ridge north of Marin Professional Center, opposite Terra Linda in the Civic Center vicinity, from Harry Heifetz Co., real estate investment firm.

The Coldwell-Banker survey, it was reported, is expected to be completed this month.

By terms of the plan, Haas and Haynie would take a long-term lease on the present Elks Club property, erect a large modern office building, and from its share of rental proceeds, the Elks Lodge would finance a new home away from the downtown area.

Arthur McDevitt, exalted ruler of San Rafael Lodge, considers this possibility "a wonderful opportunity for the lodge to obtain new up-to-date facilities," he said.

A Haas and Haynie spokesman said that under present development conditions in San Rafael, the Fifth and B site seems naturally better adapted to office than fraternal uses.

"We are feeling out what the market is before seeking commitments on leases," he said.

Senior Group Plans Tour Of Prison

Marin's senior citizens will have a chance to tour San Quentin Prison, have dinner in the prison dining hall, and watch a concert put on by the inmates on Nov. 15.

Manny Charnow, chairman for the event, announced today that Warden Fred R. Dickson has invited the senior citizens for dinner at 1:30 p.m. on Nov. 15. Charnow estimated that 200 to 300 will attend.

Tickets will be distributed at the Marin Senior Assn.'s regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 22, at Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo. Only those who attend the meeting in person will get tickets, Charnow said that some guests will be invited from the County Hospital and Farm in Lucas Valley, as well as senior citizens recommended by the county welfare office.

Charnow urged all who have cars to drive to the prison, where there is plenty of parking space. For those who have no cars, a bus will make pick-ups in front of Fairfax Theater, San Anselmo bus station, and the San Rafael Senior Center at 1825 Fourth Street. Two pick-ups will be made, at 11:30 and 12:30, according to Charnow.

"We wish to thank the businessmen from the county, who are footing the bill," said Charnow.

Dinner will be followed by inmate entertainment. Among outside entertainers invited by the warden is Wishard Brown of Greenbrae, amateur magician known as Wishard the Wizard.

PROPOSITION 8

Should Ex-Felons Have Vote Right?

(Last in a series on California's November ballot propositions.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Should ex-felons have the right to vote in California?

Since 1849, the state constitution has said No.

Proposition 8 says Yes.

The law now provides that no person convicted of an "infamous crime" shall ever exercise the privileges of an elector. An infamous crime is interpreted to mean all felonies punishable by one year or more in a state or federal prison.

The governor can restore the vote to an ex-convict through a pardon. Proposition 8 would restore it automatically after the prisoner serves his time or finishes up his parole. He still wouldn't be allowed to run for office, however.

The proposed amendment would continue the voting ban for anyone convicted of treason or of stealing public money.

The arguments:

For—The present law is medieval and undemocratic. The wrongdoer has paid his debt to society; loss of suffrage is inconsistent with modern concepts of rehabilitation.

Against—If a man is unworthy to be pardoned, he doesn't deserve the voting franchise. A part of the penalty for committing a crime is the loss of the right to vote beyond the period of sentence.

Looking over other measures on the ballot—some controversial, some routine:

Proposition 7—Would let the legislature fix license fees for chiropractors, now written into the law. The 1959 legislature prescribed new higher fees, subject to passage of No. 7.

Proposition 10—Enlarges State Judicial Council, creates a new commission to pass on appellate court appointees, establishes a procedure to retire or remove judges.

The arguments:

For—Existing machinery for removing judges is cumbersome, almost impossible to use. The proposed procedure would provide careful review before a recommendation goes to the State Supreme Court.

Against—The people elect their judges and should have the right to remove them. There is the recall method and other ways to get a judge off the bench.

Proposition 12—Eliminates obsolete or superseded language in the state constitution.

Under the 1950 court reorganization program, appeals from municipal and justice courts are usually heard by superior court. Proposition 13 would empower the legislature to allow an additional appeal to the appellate court. The latter would decide whether to accept the case.

Proposition 14—Would allow cities and counties to apply up to 50 per cent of state highway user tax allocations to pay interest and principal on bonds to construct grade separation projects.

The law reserves gas and other motor vehicle tax funds for highways; an anti-diversion provision has been interpreted by the attorney general to prohibit using the money on bonds for highway purposes.

The arguments:

For—Many local governments can't afford to pay for grade separations out of current revenues. Proposition 14 would enable them to borrow against future state allocations. This would speed the elimination of dangerous railroad crossings and save lives.

Against—The amendment would weaken provisions in effect 37 years designed to prevent highway money from being spent for other purposes. It would lead to a slowdown on necessary work on streets and highways.

right—it's always been wrong. I know I'm going to get a lot of time for this. You've probably got enough on me that I'll never get out of jail."

Hale was asked how he selected the cars to be stopped and robbed.

"We just picked out cars that looked like they had money, but mostly they didn't," he said.

"I robbed and stole," he added, "but I never killed."

Hale, who carried $350 in cash and a woman's wristwatch with a broken band, was suspected of attacking among his other victims a 12-year-old girl near Wheeler, Tex., last week when her mother escaped by pleading she was pregnant. He also was accused of attacking a woman near El Paso., Tex., Wednesday night during a series of four robberies that netted $1,000.

He was booked on charges of kidnaping, robbery, rape and unnatural sex acts. His partners arrested in Arizona were held on robbery and kidnaping.

"I'm not a smart man," Hale sobbed after confessing the robberies to deputies. "I'm sorry I brought this bad thing on my children."

which may hold the key to the outcome.

The struggle was heralded by a Nationalist China denunciation of the Red Peiping regime as the world's greatest menace to international peace and security.

Nationalist China Ambassador T. F. Tsiagn leveled this charge in the general policy debate. He asserted Red China is dedicated to "bringing all Asia under Communist domination" and of extending "its nefarious activities beyond Asia to Africa and Latin America," in a drive for imperialist expansion.

The imminent vote is not on the question of admitting Red China to U.N. membership, but on the question whether to place a Soviet-backed resolution on the assembly's agenda for full debate. For nine years the United States has persuaded the Assembly to by-pass the issue.

Royal Danes Arrive For Bay Area Visit

King Fredrik IX of Denmark and his queen, Ingrid, were to be briefly in Marin County this afternoon.

A motor cavalcade centering around the royal couple was to cross the Golden Gate Bridge to make a quick call on the Aldersly Danish Old Peoples Home at 326 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

This visit was to be their second, for as crown prince and princess they spent an afternoon at the home in 1939.

Twenty police motorcyclists conducted a 15-car motorcade bearing the royal party from San Francisco Airport to downtown San Francisco late yesterday.

"We didn't see much because of your fog," the queen told a black-tie banquet in the evening at the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

King Fredrik spoke to several thousand students at the outdoor Greek theater at the University of California in Berkeley, returned to San Francisco for a ticker-tape motorcade through the financial district and was honored in ceremonies under the classic rotunda of the San Francisco city hall.

San Francisco streets were hung with Danish flags, and more than 40 stores presented window displays featuring the country's products.

The San Francisco welcome resulted partly from the size of the area's Danish colony, one of the largest in the United States. The Bay Area has 10,000 persons of Danish descent, according to consul general Frode L. G. Shoen.

The government admitted only one landing—an estimated 27 men—and said the leader was killed and two of the band captured. The others got away.

Boy, 15, Bitten During Dog Fight

Richard Alan Sundberg, son of Mrs. Mildred Ann Lalliack of 106 Mabry Way, was treated for a gash about two and one-half inches long at Marin General Hospital.

Richard told officers he and Joseph Anthony Geromini of 109 Vendola Drive were playing in front of his house when his dog and a cocker spaniel began fighting. He tried to separate them, and one of the dogs bit him. He does not know which dog was responsible.

Hub City Man Hurt In Car Accident

San Rafael Police Officer John Kingston reported Rhoades was eastbound on Fourth Street when he collided with a car driven by William F. Dresia of 107 Santa Margarita, San Rafael at 5:15 p.m. Dresia was southbound on G Street.

Outboard Motor Worth $650 Stolen

A 30-horsepower outboard motor worth $650 vanished in broad daylight yesterday from a home in California Park south of San Rafael, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Marvin Guthrie of 2750 Highway 101 told officers he had twin motors attached to his boat parked in his yard. Only one of the motors is missing.

Deputy Leo R. Ballard found fresh tire marks leading to the boat. The owner said the theft occurred between 7:30 a.m. and noon.

PROPOSITION 8

Should Ex-Felons Have Vote Right?

(Last in a series on California's November ballot propositions.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Should ex-felons have the right to vote in California?

Since 1849, the state constitution has said No.

Proposition 8 says Yes.

The law now provides that no person convicted of an "infamous crime" shall ever exercise the privileges of an elector. An infamous crime is interpreted to mean all felonies punishable by one year or more in a state or federal prison.

The governor can restore the vote to an ex-convict through a pardon. Proposition 8 would restore it automatically after the prisoner serves his time or finishes up his parole. He still wouldn't be allowed to run for office, however.

The proposed amendment would continue the voting ban for anyone convicted of treason or of stealing public money.

The arguments:

For—The present law is medieval and undemocratic. The wrongdoer has paid his debt to society; loss of suffrage is inconsistent with modern concepts of rehabilitation.

Against—If a man is unworthy to be pardoned, he doesn't deserve the voting franchise. A part of the penalty for committing a crime is the loss of the right to vote beyond the period of sentence.

Looking over other measures on the ballot—some controversial, some routine:

Proposition 7—Would let the legislature fix license fees for chiropractors, now written into the law. The 1959 legislature prescribed new higher fees, subject to passage of No. 7.

Proposition 10—Enlarges State Judicial Council, creates a new commission to pass on appellate court appointees, establishes a procedure to retire or remove judges.

The arguments:

For—Existing machinery for removing judges is cumbersome, almost impossible to use. The proposed procedure would provide careful review before a recommendation goes to the State Supreme Court.

Against—The people elect their judges and should have the right to remove them. There is the recall method and other ways to get a judge off the bench.

Proposition 12—Eliminates obsolete or superseded language in the state constitution.

Under the 1950 court reorganization program, appeals from municipal and justice courts are usually heard by superior court. Proposition 13 would empower the legislature to allow an additional appeal to the appellate court. The latter would decide whether to accept the case.

Proposition 14—Would allow cities and counties to apply up to 50 per cent of state highway user tax allocations to pay interest and principal on bonds to construct grade separation projects.

The law reserves gas and other motor vehicle tax funds for highways; an anti-diversion provision has been interpreted by the attorney general to prohibit using the money on bonds for highway purposes.

The arguments:

For—Many local governments can't afford to pay for grade separations out of current revenues. Proposition 14 would enable them to borrow against future state allocations. This would speed the elimination of dangerous railroad crossings and save lives.

Against—The amendment would weaken provisions in effect 37 years designed to prevent highway money from being spent for other purposes. It would lead to a slowdown on necessary work on streets and highways.

BANDITS

right—it's always been wrong. I know I'm going to get a lot of time for this. You've probably got enough on me that I'll never get out of jail."

Hale was asked how he selected the cars to be stopped and robbed.

"We just picked out cars that looked like they had money, but mostly they didn't," he said.

"I robbed and stole," he added, "but I never killed."

Hale, who carried $350 in cash and a woman's wristwatch with a broken band, was suspected of attacking among his other victims a 12-year-old girl near Wheeler, Tex., last week when her mother escaped by pleading she was pregnant. He also was accused of attacking a woman near El Paso., Tex., Wednesday night during a series of four robberies that netted $1,000.

He was booked on charges of kidnaping, robbery, rape and unnatural sex acts. His partners arrested in Arizona were held on robbery and kidnaping.

"I'm not a smart man," Hale sobbed after confessing the robberies to deputies. "I'm sorry I brought this bad thing on my children."

which may hold the key to the outcome.

The struggle was heralded by a Nationalist China denunciation of the Red Peiping regime as the world's greatest menace to international peace and security.

Nationalist China Ambassador T. F. Tsiagn leveled this charge in the general policy debate. He asserted Red China is dedicated to "bringing all Asia under Communist domination" and of extending "its nefarious activities beyond Asia to Africa and Latin America," in a drive for imperialist expansion.

The imminent vote is not on the question of admitting Red China to U.N. membership, but on the question whether to place a Soviet-backed resolution on the assembly's agenda for full debate. For nine years the United States has persuaded the Assembly to by-pass the issue.

Royal Danes Arrive For Bay Area Visit

King Fredrik IX of Denmark and his queen, Ingrid, were to be briefly in Marin County this afternoon.

A motor cavalcade centering around the royal couple was to cross the Golden Gate Bridge to make a quick call on the Aldersly Danish Old Peoples Home at 326 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

This visit was to be their second, for as crown prince and princess they spent an afternoon at the home in 1939.

Twenty police motorcyclists conducted a 15-car motorcade bearing the royal party from San Francisco Airport to downtown San Francisco late yesterday.

"We didn't see much because of your fog," the queen told a black-tie banquet in the evening at the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

King Fredrik spoke to several thousand students at the outdoor Greek theater at the University of California in Berkeley, returned to San Francisco for a ticker-tape motorcade through the financial district and was honored in ceremonies under the classic rotunda of the San Francisco city hall.

San Francisco streets were hung with Danish flags, and more than 40 stores presented window displays featuring the country's products.

The San Francisco welcome resulted partly from the size of the area's Danish colony, one of the largest in the United States. The Bay Area has 10,000 persons of Danish descent, according to consul general Frode L. G. Shoen.

Boy, 15, Bitten During Dog Fight

A 15-year-old Santa Venetia boy, who tried to stop a dog fight in his yard, was bitten on the right leg above the ankle last night.

Richard Alan Sundberg, son of Mrs. Mildred Ann Lalliack of 106 Mabry Way, was treated for a gash about two and one-half inches long at Marin General Hospital.

Richard told officers he and Joseph Anthony Geromini of 109 Vendola Drive were playing in front of his house when his dog and a cocker spaniel began fighting. He tried to separate them, and one of the dogs bit him. He does not know which dog was responsible.

Hub City Man Hurt In Car Accident

Outboard Motor Worth $650 Stolen

A 30-horsepower outboard motor worth $650 vanished in broad daylight yesterday from a home in California Park south of San Rafael, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Marvin Guthrie of 2750 Highway 101 told officers he had twin motors attached to his boat parked in his yard. Only one of the motors is missing.

Deputy Leo R. Ballard found fresh tire marks leading to the boat. The owner said the theft occurred between 7:30 a.m. and noon.

Aggressive Little Boys Often Become Most Successful Adults

"My son is NOT a brat!" the mother said. "He's just a healthy 4-year-old boy."

Then she took her son by the hand and walked on.

I was sitting in a park. The boy had tried to climb a tree. An elderly gent scolded him. His mother defended him. I cheered her.

What small boy doesn't try to climb trees?

Do you have a son of 3 or 4? Does he exhaust you? Must you say "NO, NO, NO" to him a thousand times a day? Does he enjoy being rough? Is he a grinning, tireless little savage? Then he's normal.

But don't expect prissy adults to understand him. They can't.

I'm a guidance counselor. I've worked with scores of aggressive little boys. Some of them were mean. Many were cruel. Their parents were sure they'd wind up in prison or in an electric chair.

Do you know what I've discovered? Aggressive little boys become the most successful men. They have ambition. They aren't afraid to take chances. They start new businesses and succeed. They graduate from law schools and develop big practices. They become surgeons, engineers, scientists. The world has a place for strong males.

So don't worry about your little guy. Let him know you love him. Do your best to civilize him.

He's your treasure, and don't you forget it.

One Seriously Hurt As Cars Hit In Tunnel

A Kentfield woman was in serious condition in Marin General Hospital today as result of a three-car crash in the southbound Waldo Tunnel on Highway 101 yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gengler, 41, of 121 Kent Avenue, was thrown forward violently, and suffered a possible concussion when the car in which she was riding smashed into one driven by Joe Don Mason of Woodacre, which already had hit another car halted ahead.

Marcia Joan Dunn, 30, also of 121 Kent Avenue, driving Mrs. Gengler, was treated for severe bruises of the right foot.

The car which stopped was driven by Harold Kring Nicolaisen, 10 Oak Avenue, Belvedere, the California Highway Patrol reported. He said he had been forced to halt because another car did so just ahead of him for no apparent reason, then drove away.

Fuchsia Growers To See Orchids

The fuchsia growers will hear about orchids tonight.

An illustrated lecture on orchids will feature the monthly meeting of the Marin County Branch of the American Fuchsia Society at 8 p. m. at Painters' Hall, Mission and Tamalpais Avenues, San Rafael.

A potluck dinner will precede the meeting, announced Secretary Elsie L. Clark.

Board Says Local Schools Should Hike Cost Share

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Allocation Board voted yesterday to require local school districts to put up a larger share of th state school building program.

The didstricts now contribute 95 per cent of their bonding capacity in order to qualify for state loans. The board voted 3 to 1 to make it 100 per cent.

Officials estimated it would cost the districts an additional 7.5 million dollars.

The Department of Education opposed the change, saying the 95 per cent bonding requirement gives the districts some leeway in acquiring future school sites.

Guatemala, El Salvador Line Up Against Reds

SAN CRISTOBAL DE LA FRONTERA, El Salvador (UPI)— Guatemala and El Salvador lined up today in a common front against Communist agitation threatening each other's internal security.

In a two-hour meeting at this border town, Presidents Manuel Ydigoras Fuentes of Guatemala and Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador emphasized their determination to combat Red infiltration and spur regional economic unity.

A "declaration of San Cristobal" issued after the meeting said the two presidents agreed that unrest in their countries is attributable to "external influences." However, both countries said their individual strength is sufficient to keep in check any "Trojan horse" activities without the need to combine armed forces.

The "external influences" working against the Fuentes and Lemus governments was not identified, but the Guatemalan chief executive scored Cuba as a "de facto" government with which Guatemala rejected relations.

Fuentes said his intelligence service has notified him of the arrival of an unidentified Soviet propagandist in Montevideo, Uruguay, "assigned to organize subversive activities in the Western Hemisphere."

The two presidents reaffirmed their faith in the formation of what they called a "grand country," envisaging the economic integration of central America as one bloc.

They predicted current efforts to blend the five central American republics into a single politico-economic unit will have "very practical results" shortly.

Tamalpais Inn Dining Room Offers Choice Menus In Chinese Cuisine

Never did we have it better in spur-of-the-moment feeding than at Jimmy Louie's last Saturday night on a quest for good Chinese food. The fried boneless chicken with almond sauce, fried won ton, mixed vegetables chow yuk and rice were the mainstay but certain other delectibles customerly bonused in a dinner for three or more made it a producton.

Conforming to our usual manner with Chinese food we left not a morsel go wasting, yet so well did the sum total match appetite we could not have eaten more.

Jimmie Louie, for your information, runs the dining room at Travelers Inn, San Rafael which is given more to eating satisfaction than exotic, Oriental splendor. If you want the gold and red of tourist scenery then you had better hie yourself to Grant Avenue in the city. Even there the well-favored family haunts are usually the less conspicuous facades on the side streets.

How long since you have eaten Chinese food?

It's a lot closer to Third and Tamalpais, San Rafael than the fleshier spots of S.F., and parking is better, too.

STEAKS—they cut the New Yorks big at Rancho Nicasio (a pound and a quarter) and the beef is the best obtainable. Some like them as rare as a day in June with the meat barely scorched on either side but sizzling in a sauce of its own sweet juice.

Pound for pound, Rancho Nicasio probably goes through as many racks of top grade beef as any restaurant in the county and Nick Kobseff's trimming is an education in meat cutting.

NOW WE'VE FOUND what Mitchell Javeaux, chef at Le Chateau, is doing with his stock of ring-necked pheasants—he's baking and serving them under glass Eugenie—delicious.

Petey Cox has a cute little trick for group luncheons and dinners here. She prints special menus with the full bill of fare chosen for the occasion and headed by the name of host or hostess.

A nice touch to remember your special party events.

DON'T let the regular menu at Fleur d'Lyls, San Anselmo, hold you back from calling for favorite gourmet delights if you know whereof you pick and choose.

The regular dinners were designed to satisfy average tastes for well balanced French food and save customers from going astray on price and dilemma. Anyone who is not faced with "embarras de choix" has a good chance of getting specialite de cuisine as ordered.

WORK.. on ..Jerry Tomelli's seafood shop and restaurant got bogged down for an October opening; prospect now is for sometime next week — at least for the counter trade.

Last account was that the location will be called Tonelli's Seafoods.

Meanwhile, Jerry still has his retail spot on Francisco Blvd. in front of Marin Sea Foods.

SALLY STANFORD says her remodeling of Valhalla's dining room should be completed within another three weeks. The premises are being extended bayward to accommodate about twice as many diners and a service bar. More parking space is being arranged, always necessary in Sausalito when enlargement of facilities is programmed.

THE NAME may logically be "Gene's Cracker Barrel Patio" if Eugene Lackenbach goes ahead with his present idea of revamping his outside domain at Eugene's restaurant, San Rafael.

The addition of an old cast iron pot-bellied stove in the rear table area has already aroused some interest in forthcoming supporting props. Gene's mind, it appears, is on a cracker barrel, cheeses and beer—somewhat removed from the pancake motif which nevertheless will remain as long as he can conceive of new batters, combinations and syrups.

Prop. 15 Speaker

Paule Laake, Woodland newspaper publisher and member of the California State Board of Equalization from this district, will speak on Proposition 15—the proposal to reapportion the state senate—at the San Rafael Rotary Club luncheon Monday noon at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Crosby's A Freshman Again In New Comedy

By LES DARD

TAMALPAIS THEATRER

"High Time" (CinemaScope, color) offers Bing Crosby as a 51-year-old college freshman in pursuit of the education he didn't have time to get because he was busy becoming a millionaire via the hamburger stand dodge.

This campus romp will be on the Hub screen starting Sunday.

More in Bing's line is lovely Nicole Maurey, a tasty prof of French who is the object of Bing's singing efforts in the film's one serious moment — when she's forced to resign because of gossip.

RAFAEL THEATER

"Hercules Unchained" (Eastman color Dyaliscope) is the latest in a series of muscular divertissements starring Steve Reeves, the Oakland strong boy who made good before a camera in Italy.

It opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

"Just as he did in "Goliath" and "Giant of Marathon," Steve kills wild beasts with his bare hands, bowls over armies and disposes of a troublesome giant (Primo Carnera, in this case) without breathing hard.

NOVATO THEATER

Director John Ford's latest venture in the field of westerns is titled "Sergeant Rutledge" (Technicolor), and like most Ford efforts, it's offbeat frontier adventure.

The time is right after the Civil War. Woody Strode, in the title role, is a non-com suspected of assault and murder. His defense counsel (Jeffrey Hunter) believes him innocent. But the citizens of Fort Linton are in a hanging mood—hardly a good frame of reference for justice. They crowd the courtroom, ropes in hand, waiting for the decision they want: Guilty!

The story is unfolded in a series of flashbacks and the suspense mounts with the evidence.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"The Nun's Story" (color), a compelling tale based on the widely read book about a girl who discovered that she was "not cast in the mold of a nun," is back briefly at the peninsula playbox (now on a Friday - Saturday - Sunday policy.)

Audrey Hepburn plays Sister Luke, a young girl who enters a convent, and is eventually sent to the Congo, where she works with a masterful doctor (Peter Finch). She refuses the thought that she may be falling in love.

Back at home, the Nazis kill her father. This creates a compulsion within her to reject her vows since she no longer can feel forgiveness for these enemies.

The co-feature is a comedy, "Tall Story," starring Tony Perkins.

LARK THEATER

"Carry On, Nurse" is a new British comedy which establishes, beyond a doubt, that the male animal cuts a pretty sad figure when bereft of his pants. It has been held over for a fifth week in Larkspur.

The men's ward of a hospital serves as the setting for this romp. There is no story as such. Rather, the audience follows the day and night antics of the patients, a zany lot at best.

The crowd got quite a few laughs out of this one the night I saw it.

MOTOR MOVIES and SEQUOIA THEATER

"Bells Are Ringing," starring Judy Holliday, opens Sunday on the Mill Valley and Motor Movies screens.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Returning is "Anatomy of a Murder" a straight-talk film. And if it emphasizes anatomy more than murder, it's still also one of the most engrossing courtroom dramas in many a year.

"Anatomy" tells of an Army officer (Ben Gazzara) who kills a man while "blacked out." He charges that the victim assaulted his wife (Lee Remick).

The suspense springs entirely from speculation on whether the defense attorney (James Stewart) can get him off.

NEW CROSBY FILM—Bing Crosby and Nicole Maurey meet in a scene from the new singing comedy "High Time," which will start at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo Sunday.

A Heart-To-Heart

BAKERSFIELD, Vt. (UPI) — Aime Dufresne, 56, and Roger Dufresne, 22, had a father-to-son talk after their cars collided head-on causing $700 damages to the vehicles.

Pump Station For Marin Bay Area Passed

Plans for a $90,000 pump station and sewer main to serve 1,200 persons in the Marin Bay subdivision were approved by the San Rafael Sanitation District yesterday.

The eight-inch main will extend almost a mile from the small pump station near the golf course to the opposite side of the Peacock Gap ridge where a sewage treatment plant will be built.

Cost of the sewage setup will be carried by the developers, Latipac-Perini companies, which will turn the maintenance and operation over to the sanitation district after the system is completed, according to Norris M. Rawles, district administrator.

Rawles said plans for the first stage of the treatment plant which will ultimately be built for an operation for 24,000 persons will probably be brought to the district sometime this month.

District approval of plans permits the developers to issue a call for bids. Rawles estimated construction time at about four months.

Reapportionment Plan Called 'Frightening'

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Paul Leake, member of the State Board of Equalization, said today that unless Californians take time to learn the "frightening facts" about Proposition 15, the northern counties "will become satellites revolving around the southern moon."

Leake issued the warning in an address to the North Coast Council of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

He blasted the "appalling public indifference" to the proposition, which would reapportion California's 40 state senate seats—putting 20 north and 20 south of the Tehachapis.

"The north and the governor would be powerless to put the brakes on the southern machine," he said. "We'd be flattened by the steam roller."

Leake said it was a bipartisan issue and that Republican and Democratic central committees should join forces "to blow this irresponsible proposal into kingdom come."

"To stem the vote tide from populous Los Angeles, we will need close to a 90 per cent no vote in the north," Leake said. "Northerners must get into the act. If we don't shore up our defenses, we can be swept off the map of California."

College Students To Get X-rays

Eight hundred College of Marin students will receive free chest x-rays this semester in a joint project of Marin General Hospital and the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Each student will receive a pamphlet about tuberculosis supplied by the association, according to Mildred Wollett, health education instructor. Panta Kai Dek, a women's service club at the college, will be in charge of campus publicity.

Chairman of the college health committee, which is pushing the chest x-ray program, is Irwin Diamond, dean of students.

"Bells Are Ringing," starring Judy Holliday, opens Sunday on the Mill Valley and Motor Movies screens.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Returning is "Anatomy of a Murder" a straight-talk film. And if it emphasizes anatomy more than murder, it's still also one of the most engrossing courtroom dramas in many a year.

"Anatomy" tells of an Army officer (Ben Gazzara) who kills a man while "blacked out." He charges that the victim assaulted his wife (Lee Remick).

The suspense springs entirely from speculation on whether the defense attorney (James Stewart) can get him off.

NEW CROSBY FILM—Bing Crosby and Nicole Maurey meet in a scene from the new singing comedy "High Time," which will start at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo Sunday.

A Heart-To-Heart

BAKERSFIELD, Vt. (UPI) — Aime Dufresne, 56, and Roger Dufresne, 22, had a father-to-son talk after their cars collided head-on causing $700 damages to the vehicles.

Pump Station For Marin Bay Area Passed

Plans for a $90,000 pump station and sewer main to serve 1,200 persons in the Marin Bay subdivision were approved by the San Rafael Sanitation District yesterday.

The eight-inch main will extend almost a mile from the small pump station near the golf course to the opposite side of the Peacock Gap ridge where a sewage treatment plant will be built.

Cost of the sewage setup will be carried by the developers, Latipac-Perini companies, which will turn the maintenance and operation over to the sanitation district after the system is completed, according to Norris M. Rawles, district administrator.

Rawles said plans for the first stage of the treatment plant which will ultimately be built for an operation for 24,000 persons will probably be brought to the district sometime this month.

District approval of plans permits the developers to issue a call for bids. Rawles estimated construction time at about four months.

Reapportionment Plan Called 'Frightening'

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Paul Leake, member of the State Board of Equalization, said today that unless Californians take time to learn the "frightening facts" about Proposition 15, the northern counties "will become satellites revolving around the southern moon."

Leake issued the warning in an address to the North Coast Council of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

He blasted the "appalling public indifference" to the proposition, which would reapportion California's 40 state senate seats—putting 20 north and 20 south of the Tehachapis.

"The north and the governor would be powerless to put the brakes on the southern machine," he said. "We'd be flattened by the steam roller."

Leake said it was a bipartisan issue and that Republican and Democratic central committees should join forces "to blow this irresponsible proposal into kingdom come."

"To stem the vote tide from populous Los Angeles, we will need close to a 90 per cent no vote in the north," Leake said. "Northerners must get into the act. If we don't shore up our defenses, we can be swept off the map of California."

College Students To Get X-rays

Eight hundred College of Marin students will receive free chest x-rays this semester in a joint project of Marin General Hospital and the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Each student will receive a pamphlet about tuberculosis supplied by the association, according to Mildred Wollett, health education instructor. Panta Kai Dek, a women's service club at the college, will be in charge of campus publicity.

Smog Board Opens Top Secret Report

Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District voted at a meeting Wednesday to keep secret a report on a study of the district's setup by chief administrative officers of the six counties it includes.

Yesterday, besieged by newspapermen who pointed out the public character of the smog control district and its obligation to conduct its affairs publicly, the directors released the report.

The "top secret" report approved plans of the smog board to reorganize the district setup into three major divisions: technical services, surveillance and enforcement, and business management.

It urged that Benjamin Linsky, smog control officer, immediately prepare an enforcement plan. It suggested a modified program budget be developed, a study of the district's compensation plan be made by the California State Cooperative Personnel Service, and a clear procedure for disciplinary actions against employees be devised.

The county administrators, in their "secret" report, disagreed with a recommendation by Ernst and Ernst, consultant firm, that the smog district's counsel be made accountable to the control officer. It disagreed also with Ernst and Ernst's recommendation that Linsky, the control officer, turn over the job of "selling" air pollution control to his information officer."

Also "secret," according to the board's initial decision, were the county administrators' recommendation to:

Replace a female laboratory technician with a male technician; drop one of the board's two clerks; eliminate a senior typist position; establish centralized typing and clerical pools, and reduce the mailing list.

Architect Gets Highest Honor From Institute

The California Council of the American Institute of Architects has awarded its highest honor, its distinguished service citation, to M. Justin Herman of Sausalito.

The award was announced today by Wayne S. Hertzka of Kentfield, the council's president.

Herman is executive director of the San Francisco Redevelopment Agency and former regional administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The citation says that "through his dynamic leadership . . . (Herman) has been instrumental in encouraging architectural excellence in two great urban renewal programs —Golden Gateway and Western Addition . . . These accomplishments have earned him the respect and admiration of the public and the profession."

Police Map War Against Crime Wave

Police from nine cities in Marin County and from El Cerrito and San Francisco met at the Marin County Sheriff's Office Wednesday to map a war strategy against the series of burglaries and other crimes that are plaguing the Bay Area.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said the meeting was to exchange information and coordinate efforts to combat crime.

Sheriff's Inspectors Carl Sears and Richard Argento, and Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark were in charge of the meeting.

The elusive "pillow case burglar," who has been carting off loot from homes in pillow cases, was one of the topics discussed by the police chiefs.

Drama Discussion Due

Play-reading and discussion will be combined in "Modern Drama for Discussion," a University of California Extension series to meet Tuesdays from Oct. 25 to Dec. 27 from 8 to 10 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. Gerson Jacobs, 873 Idylberry Drive, Lucas Valley. Dr. Mary Rich, former English teacher at Montana State University, will guide the sessions.

Dupuis Beer Bust

A group of Sausalito citizens will hold a beer bust for Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon, republican candidate for Congress, at 8 p.m. today on the boat Blue Spirit, tied up in Sausalito Yacht Harbor at Humboldt avenue. Mrs. Russell G. Lewis, chairman, said "everyone is welcome."

Three Novatans Leave War-Torn, Flooded Laos

Three members of a Novato family, in Laos as part of an overseas aid program, have been taken out of the war torn country.

Relatives report that Mrs. Victor Myers and her two children, James, 13, and Nancy, 12, are in Bangkok, Thailand, after leaving Laos due to a combination of civil strife and rising flood waters.

Victor Myers, a printer for a San Francisco firm, remained in Vientiane, Laos, to continue setting up a printing plant there. Mrs. Victor Myers Jr. reported from Novato. Mrs. Myers Sr. is on a leave of absence from Marion School in Novato where she taught fourth grade.

The family arrived in Laos late in July and planned to stay two years.

Marin Singer To Be On Video

Young lyric soprano Gwen Curatilo of Terra Linda, who is singing in several operas in the current San Francisco Opera season, will be seen with Dorothy Kirsten Oct. 16 on Ed Sullivan's television program.

In the scene, which will show the opera star singing the famous aria "Un Bel Di," Gwen appears as her servant, Suzuki, but does not sing, herself. It was filmed recently at the Japanese Tea Garden in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

THAT'S MARILYN—Yes, its Marilyn Monroe, in pigtails. She often wears her hair that way when kicking around the house. She showed up this way in Reno for the filming of "The Misfits," and the directors had her keep the hairdo for the picture. (AP Wirephoto)

Supervisors Not To Hear Damage Claim

Marin County supervisors will be advised at their weekly meeting Tuesday that it isn't their job to hear damage claims.

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan said today he will recommend against formal hearing by the board of reasons of Jackie Edson Hermann of El Sobrante, Contra Costa County, for seeking $11,435 from county and state because of his blood-test experiences in San Rafael last June.

Through his attorney, A. J. Bjorklund Jr. of Sausalito, Hermann sent the supervisors a group of documents Sept. 13 threatening suit. When Jordan later advised that in his view the claim wasn't valid, Bjorklund wanted the board to require his reasons.

Jordan said he will tell the board that this raises a basic policy question since "in effect, Mr. Bjorklund appears to be requesting a formal hearing of his claim before the Board of Supervisors" who normally follow no such procedure. In Jordan's view they should not thus burden themselves.

Jordan said that by long-established policy the board refers claims to the insurance carrier.

Foreign Children's Art Is On Display

The exhibit was shown at the recent Pacific Festival in San Francisco and was sent to Mill Valley by the International Child Art Center, according to Mrs. Lyle Cummins. It is open to the public during school hours, Monday through Friday.

San Rafael Student Named Rodeo Queen

Vivacious and as pretty as a picture, De Anne Garibaldi has been named rodeo queen for the Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show and Livestock Exposition at San Francisco, Oct. 21-30.

She can ride and rope, too. And even though she's an outdoors girl, De Anne is a student. She sings, plays three musical instruments and has won both speech and art contests. She's majoring in art at Dominican College in San Rafael, where she is a sophomore, and is taking her minor out in dramatics and speech.

De Anne and her horse have won a host of prizes.

She has been an outstanding student at Amador County High School, participating in many school functions and sports. Her scholastic work has won for her a Lions Club and a Bank of America achievement award. She is an honorary deputy sheriff of both Los Angeles and Sacramento Counties, and has participated in parades in both areas.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Garibaldi of Amador County.

De Anne is 18, weighs 122 pounds, stands five feet seven inches, and measures 35-22-36.

Store In Fallon Changing Hands

Mr. and Mrs. Bill L. Hobbs, formerly of the Los Angeles area, are the new owners. Mrs. Hobbs will be postmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve A. Thompson, who operated the store for the past 12 years, have bought a ranch at Two Rock about 10 miles from Fallon and just over the boundary in Sonoma County. They have already moved to their new home.

LUCKY LIVESTOCK!—Who wouldn't like being lassoed by such a pretty cowgirl as De Anne Garibaldi? De Anne, a sophomore at Dominican College, has been named rodeo queen of the Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show and Livestock Exposition.

More 'Jobless' Centers Listed By Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today added five of the nation's major production centers to its list of areas with "substantial" unemployment. This means that 6 per cent or more of the labor force in those areas can't find jobs.

The Labor Department also reported that surveys of employer hiring plans indicated little, if any, improvement in the job picture during the next month or so.

The new cities placed in the "depressed areas" category were Birmingham, Ala.; San Diego, Jersey City, N. J.; Canton, Ohio and Muskegon-Muskegon Heights, Mich. Forty-two of the 150 major industrial centers surveyed by the government now have "substantial" unemployment.

The Muskegon - Muskegon Heights area also was placed on the government's list of production centers with "chronic" unemployment problems. This list now includes 22 major areas and 74 smaller points.

The 42 areas listed as having substantial unemployment compared with 37 in July, 35 a year ago, and 89 during the 1958 recession.

107 Million Americans Reach Age Of Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 107 million American civilians will be old enough to vote in the November general election, the Census Bureau estimates.

But only about 64½ million actually will vote, the bureau said today, if the same proportion of voting-age men and women cast ballots as in 1956.

The total presidential vote four years ago was 62,027,000, of 60.4 per cent of the 102,726,000 civilians who were then voting age.

The census estimate of the number who will be voting age on Nov. 8 — 106,974,000 —excludes about 1.9 million members of the armed forces at home and abroad and an unknown number of civilians abroad, some of whom would be eligible to vote.

Women of voting age, estimated at 56.1 million, will outnumber men by about 5.2 million. If members of the armed forces were included, the difference would be cut to about 3.4 million.

Supervisors Not To Hear Damage Claim

Marin County supervisors will be advised at their weekly meeting Tuesday that it isn't their job to hear damage claims.

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan said today he will recommend against formal hearing by the board of reasons of Jackie Edson Hermann of El Sobrante, Contra Costa County, for seeking $11,435 from county and state because of his blood-test experiences in San Rafael last June.

Through his attorney, A. J. Bjorklund Jr. of Sausalito, Hermann sent the supervisors a group of documents Sept. 13 threatening suit. When Jordan later advised that in his view the claim wasn't valid, Bjorklund wanted the board to require his reasons.

Jordan said he will tell the board that this raises a basic policy question since "in effect, Mr. Bjorklund appears to be requesting a formal hearing of his claim before the Board of Supervisors" who normally follow no such procedure. In Jordan's view they should not thus burden themselves.

Jordan said that by long-established policy the board refers claims to the insurance carrier.

Foreign Children's Art Is On Display

The exhibit was shown at the recent Pacific Festival in San Francisco and was sent to Mill Valley by the International Child Art Center, according to Mrs. Lyle Cummins. It is open to the public during school hours, Monday through Friday.

San Rafael Student Named Rodeo Queen

Vivacious and as pretty as a picture, De Anne Garibaldi has been named rodeo queen for the Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show and Livestock Exposition at San Francisco, Oct. 21-30.

She can ride and rope, too. And even though she's an outdoors girl, De Anne is a student. She sings, plays three musical instruments and has won both speech and art contests. She's majoring in art at Dominican College in San Rafael, where she is a sophomore, and is taking her minor out in dramatics and speech.

De Anne and her horse have won a host of prizes.

She has been an outstanding student at Amador County High School, participating in many school functions and sports. Her scholastic work has won for her a Lions Club and a Bank of America achievement award. She is an honorary deputy sheriff of both Los Angeles and Sacramento Counties, and has participated in parades in both areas.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Garibaldi of Amador County.

De Anne is 18, weighs 122 pounds, stands five feet seven inches, and measures 35-22-36.

Store In Fallon Changing Hands

Mr. and Mrs. Bill L. Hobbs, formerly of the Los Angeles area, are the new owners. Mrs. Hobbs will be postmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve A. Thompson, who operated the store for the past 12 years, have bought a ranch at Two Rock about 10 miles from Fallon and just over the boundary in Sonoma County. They have already moved to their new home.

LUCKY LIVESTOCK!—Who wouldn't like being lassoed by such a pretty cowgirl as De Anne Garibaldi? De Anne, a sophomore at Dominican College, has been named rodeo queen of the Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show and Livestock Exposition.

More 'Jobless' Centers Listed By Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today added five of the nation's major production centers to its list of areas with "substantial" unemployment. This means that 6 per cent or more of the labor force in those areas can't find jobs.

The Labor Department also reported that surveys of employer hiring plans indicated little, if any, improvement in the job picture during the next month or so.

The new cities placed in the "depressed areas" category were Birmingham, Ala.; San Diego, Jersey City, N. J.; Canton, Ohio and Muskegon-Muskegon Heights, Mich. Forty-two of the 150 major industrial centers surveyed by the government now have "substantial" unemployment.

The Muskegon - Muskegon Heights area also was placed on the government's list of production centers with "chronic" unemployment problems. This list now includes 22 major areas and 74 smaller points.

The 42 areas listed as having substantial unemployment compared with 37 in July, 35 a year ago, and 89 during the 1958 recession.

107 Million Americans Reach Age Of Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 107 million American civilians will be old enough to vote in the November general election, the Census Bureau estimates.

But only about 64½ million actually will vote, the bureau said today, if the same proportion of voting-age men and women cast ballots as in 1956.

The total presidential vote four years ago was 62,027,000, of 60.4 per cent of the 102,726,000 civilians who were then voting age.

The census estimate of the number who will be voting age on Nov. 8 — 106,974,000 —excludes about 1.9 million members of the armed forces at home and abroad and an unknown number of civilians abroad, some of whom would be eligible to vote.

Women of voting age, estimated at 56.1 million, will outnumber men by about 5.2 million. If members of the armed forces were included, the difference would be cut to about 3.4 million.

Most Marin Residents Face Vital Decision On Schools

Many parents and other citizens of this country have become concerned about and interested in our schools since the first sputnik circled the globe just three years ago this week.

Some educators deplore "irresponsible criticism" heaped upon the schools. Others have been encouraged by this interest of the public, even though it began by being excessively critical.

Many persons have found that their critical interest has developed into identification of the large picture which confront the schools today. Mr. Khrushchev has promised to "bury" us all. He means it. He has shown that the Soviet Union is able to develop scientists and engineers capable of producing a Communistic victory.

Our schools must meet this challenge.

We're not merely talking about producing more and better scientists and engineers. We also must train the men and women who will be the diplomats, the economists, the doctors and educators capable of leading the free world, able to explain freedom and human dignity to people of our globe who can not yet comprehend what these things really mean.

We are in a battle of the humanities, just as surely as we are in the age of atomic destruction.

It is sometimes hard to relate these worl-wide struggles to Marin County. Yet the link is definite and inescapable. The county's schools are overflowing with students, and no surcease in sight.

Because the competition for higher education is becoming more severe, our schools must offer a stronger and stronger program if our sons and daughters are to first, get into college and second, remain there until graduated.

Marin's school districts are all struggling with this double problem—providing solid curriculum of our modern world and providing space for our growing school population.

The county's largest elementary or high school district, Tamalpais Union High School District, has taken a long, hard look at this problem. First the educators and the architects developed the ideal plan for growth. Then a large committee of laymen took six months to go over the plan item by item. Before they were through, they had cut the cost of the plan in half without seriously curtailing the entire project.

More than two thirds of all residents of Marin County live in the Tamalpais district. They go to the polls next Tuesday to vote on a three million dollar bond issue to keep their schools adequate to cope with the educational problems of the day.

It is a carefully, well planned program.

In years past, the Tamalpais district has had trouble passing necessary bond issues, although they are always approved eventually. However, in recent months Marin voters have overwhelmingly passed worthy bond issues, most recently in the Novato and Reed districts. We hope the voters of the Tamalpais district do the same.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

THE WEEDS TOOK OVER

A local ordinance prohibits residents from letting dandelion grow in such profusion that they take over a yard.

When this particular individual didn't take the ruling too seriously, he was given the alternative of paying a $25 fine or digging up all the dandelions within 10 days.

It is not easy to keep ahead of weeds by simply fighting them. However, a person who takes a positive approach and fills a garden with good plants finds that there is less room for weeds to flourish.

Apply this lesson to every phase of life and you will find that being "for" good is much more effective than merely being "against" evil.

God gives each of us both the ability and the grace to prevent and overcome evil in the world rather than sit idly by until it debases or submerges us.

(Romans 12:21)

Teach me to restore the good that is missing, O Lord, rather than merely complain about evil.

Don't Ever, Ever Park Your Car In A No-Parking Zone In Japan

By JAMES CARY
(For Hal Boyle)

TOKYO (AP) — I'll never do that again—park in a no parking zone in Japan. The price you pay is too high.

I know now, 3 days, 5 hours and 25 minutes of frustration later.

It seemed so ordinary that day it all began.

Into the Marunouchi Police Station I marched smiling and genial—waving the ticket I had found under the windshield wiper of my ancient vehicle.

"Now if you'll just tell me where I can pay my fine," I suggested.

"Name please," said a stern-looking desk sergeant. "Age. Where do you live? Drivers license. Married? Children? How long have you been in Japan? Foreign registration card."

I gave them all. "Now about that fine," I started hopefully again.

The sergeant was pretty quiet. I was confident the wheels of justice were turning.

"You were illegally parked!" he announced triumphantly.

I had that same general impression, too.

"If you'll tell me where to pay the fine," I began again.

"You must go to Summary Court," came the shattering announcement.

"In America," I started to say.

"This is Japan," he smiled.

Three days later I trampled over a few hundred bodies getting to a seat I was motioned to in front of another policeman.

"You can speak Japanese?" he asked.

"A little," I said.

We stumbled through the life history of my crime again.

"Sign your name in Japanese characters here," he said, thrusting a pen at me.

"I can't write in characters," I said.

The wheels of justice came to a full stop.

"Then we must send you to the prosecutor's office," he announced.

"Yes," I answered when the officer asked if I'd ever had a traffic violation before. "Umpteen years ago I passed in a no passing zone." His jaw dropped in amazement.

"We'll try you here," the policeman stated.

After a long wait an officer said: "We've decided that you won't have to be tried after all."

"That's fine, I beamed. "Now if you'll tell me where to pay—"

"That won't be necessary," he said sternly. "You can go now."

How Sacrilegious Our Merchants .

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Today, Sept. 30, I went shopping at the Corte Madera Shopping Center, and much to my disgust I found two large stores with many aisles cleared for row after row of Christmas stock—cards, wrappings, artificial trees, gifts and toys.

How sacreligious can our merchants get?

Christmas is still almost three months away, all the thrill, excitement, and glory certainly will be gone by then.

Every year merchants start displaying Christmas merchandise earlier and earlier. I guess next year we'll be expected to do our Christmas shopping on July 5!

Glimmers Of Hope For Order In Congo

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

A glimmer of hope has appeared that order might eventually emerge from chaos in the Congo.

This glimmering emerges from two sources—the Congolese capital of Leopoldville and from the United Nations in New York.

From Leopoldville comes word of steadily mounting defections among the followers of sometime Premier Patrice Lumumba. A trickle swelled to a stream with a report of the wholesale defection of 29 of the 44 senators and deputies from Lumumba's own eastern province.

They denounced him as a Communist attempting a dictatorship by terror.

LAST JULY 1 WHEN the former Belgian Congo emerged as an independent state and Lumumba as its premier, the capricious former beer salesman and embezzler held his office only by the slimmest of margins brought about by a shaky coalition.

Of 137 votes in the Congolese House of Representatives, Lumumba received 74.

The coalition long since has disappeared and the mounting opposition to Lumumba assures that he no longer could obtain the necessary majority in Parliament.

THERE REMAINS another step.

This was proposed by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in his attempt before the United Nations General Assembly to moderate the chilling winds of the cold war. No leader should be imposed on the Congolese people, he said. Rather, he should be a man selected by the Congo's own Parliament.

The United Nations, he said, should work toward a revival of Parliament as quickly as possible.

With a successor to Lumumba legally elected by Parliament, the last ground would be cut from the Soviet claim that Lumumba remains the legal premier of the Congo.

It was on the basis of that claim that the Russians attempted to by-pass the United Nations and send aid direct to Lumumba, who had proved their willing stooge.

It also formed the basis of their attack upon Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and of their demands that he resign.

It also was the basis of their charge that Hammarskjold had supported colonialism by failing to use U.N. troops to keep Lumumba in office.

THE CHARGE WAS so obviously false, and Hammarskjold's neutrality and determination not to interfere in the internal affairs of a state were so well known that the Russian charge received serious support only from the Communist bloc.

But out of the possibility that peace may return to the Congo, there also emerges a bitter note.

That is that Hamarskjold may fall victim of his own integrity and loyalty to his office.

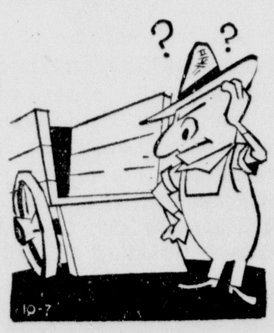
TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Ex-Governor Tom Dewey, still one of the country's legal lights, tells about a farmer who lost the tailgate of his wagon while hauling a load of fertilizer. As the wagon jolted over the rough roadbed, the fertilizer slowly slid out of the unshored end. Finally the wagon bogged down in the road, and the farmer crawled into the back of the wagon to lighten his load.



Seeing that the wagon was already empty, the farmer scratched his noggin and pondered, "Here I am, dawgone it, stuck with nothing to unload!"

A tourist deplaned in Honolulu and asked a man at the airport, "Tell me, how do you native pronounce it? Hawaii or Havaii?"

"Havaii," said the native.

"Thank you," said the tourist.

"You're velcome," said the native.

Wistful Feline Gets Short Shrift From Hard-Hearted School Board

The San Rafael Board of Education had an unexpected visitor the other night.

She walked in quite boldly through the open front door, strolled around and examined the entire administration building, settled down for a while to listen to the talk, and then, apparently bored, began washing herself.

When that palled, she leaped on a chair beside the press table, stared wide-eyed at the reporter and gave an urgent "meow." Encouraged by a pat, she jumped onto the table and settled down comfortably in the midst of the copy paper. This was too much.

CAT PROMPTLY found herself back on the floor with no one paying any attention to her. She looked up at board member Rod Martinelli. She padded over to chairman C. Paul Bettini. Then over to Supt. Frank L. Lucas. Her meows got louder and more insistent. Soon it was hard to hear what anyone was saying.

Up rose member Willard Vernon, picked up cat and tossed her out the back door on her silky ear. "Don't tell the SPCA," he grinned.

All was peaceful until about an hour later. From beyond the closed door came a faint sound. "Meow," said a wistful voice out of the dark.

SAN RAFAEL SCHOOL administrators have been giving thought to placing a four-foot fence on Union Street to mark off high school grounds. Eventually, says the superintendent, the whole campus may be enclosed.

Shouldn't the fence be higher? board members wanted to know.

"They go over any fence," said Lucas. "They climb over a fence with three strands of barbed wire and swim in the high school pool at night, he told the board.

San Rafael's summer school in 1961 may be held at two different locations and perhaps for a longer period than four week, if the recommendations of this year's principal, Ralph Hansen, are adopted.

Hansen has suggested that two sites would permit a more flexible program. He also has urged that plans for summer school be started earlier, preferably in December.

SOME STUDENTS were unhappy at the content of their courses, which weren't what they expected.

Hansen feels a more complete description of the curriculum should be made available to students to allow them to make more accurate choice of subjects.

Neutral Nations Must Continue Attempt To Heal U.S.-Soviet Breach

NEW YORK—The intervention of the five neutrals has for its object the renewal of diplomatic contact, now broken, between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. As a means of accomplishing this, the neutrals ask "as a first urgent step" the renewal of contact between Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

This has been interpreted as meaning personal contact, a face-to-face reconciliation between the two men.

But the draft resolution offered by the five neutrals is carefully worded. It does not specifically call for personal contact. Its purpose would be realized if official diplomatic contact were restored.

THE NEUTRALS assume, or at least they hope, that the personal feud is transitory, and that underneath it there still exists the possibility of and the need for negotiations.

For my own part, I am not sure that they are right, that is to say right in believing that if the personal feud were healed, negotiation would be resumed. There are some disturbing signs that since the U-2, which was a personal humiliation for Mr. K., there has been a real change of course in Soviet policy.

Be that as it may, the neutrals are right in refusing to accept the defeatist view that diplomatic negotiation cannot be renewed.

THE NEUTRALS WILL be wiser, it seems to me, not to emphasize, not to press too hard for a personal meeting. Both men have been humiliated, Khrushchev by the avowal that we had some kind of right to fly over his territory, Eisenhower by the insults heaped upon him.

Both men are angry. They cannot forgive and forget. They cannot be expected to meet and talk away their quarrel and shake hands. Nothing can be done with this quarrel except to outlive it.

What can be done, however, is to restore diplomatic contact at lower levels. Even this cannot be done quickly because Gromyko and Herter dare not forget or forgive the quarrel of their chiefs.

The U.N. is faced with the question of whether the Eisenhower-Khrushchev quarrel will be prolonged into the next administration. It may be. We cannot be sure that Mr. K. is not on a new line—one of intransigent cold war.

It is also possible that the candidates may talk themselves into a box where they are in honor bound to continue the feud—to show how brilliantly they can stand up to Mr. K. by making it impossible to sit down with him.

IF SO, THE PROSPECT is dark. An irreparable break which split the world, which broke the United Nations, might not lead to war, but it would surely lead to widespread disorder and violence in all the continents and to a condition of profound and universal uneasiness.

It is the duty of the nations which are not directly involved in the feud to bring about diplomatic contacts. They will probably not lead to any quick results. But they may make it possible to continue diplomatic intercourse after the personal feud has receded into the past.

This may not be easy to do. But the U.N. should not grow weary of trying and it should not walk away from this, the central problem of the world.

10 YEARS AGO

"Novato is recognized as a growing area," said William P. Murray, president of the First National Bank of San Rafael, in revealing that a federal charter had been received for establishment of a Novato branch. A $100,000 structure was contemplated.

Sheriff Walter B. Sellmer sent all his deputies copies of a loyalty oath together with a letter telling them to sign or resign since "it is essential that all members of this department be 100 per cent loyal Americans." Supervisors weren't sure it was a good idea and hadn't made up their minds about compulsion for county workers.

20 YEARS AGO

Widening of San Rafael's Fourth Street, held up by a few property owners, was sought by the San Rafael City Council. Formation of an assessment district for the job was urged by Attorney Samuel W. Gardiner.

More than two thirds of all residents of Marin County live in the Tamalpais district. They go to the polls next Tuesday to vote on a three million dollar bond issue to keep their schools adequate to cope with the educational problems of the day.

It is a carefully, well planned program.

In years past, the Tamalpais district has had trouble passing necessary bond issues, although they are always approved eventually. However, in recent months Marin voters have overwhelmingly passed worthy bond issues, most recently in the Novato and Reed districts. We hope the voters of the Tamalpais district do the same.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

THE WEEDS TOOK OVER

A man in Ohio found out the hard way that it doesn't pay to raise dandelions.

A local ordinance prohibits residents from letting dandelion grow in such profusion that they take over a yard.

When this particular individual didn't take the ruling too seriously, he was given the alternative of paying a $25 fine or digging up all the dandelions within 10 days.

It is not easy to keep ahead of weeds by simply fighting them. However, a person who takes a positive approach and fills a garden with good plants finds that there is less room for weeds to flourish.

Apply this lesson to every phase of life and you will find that being "for" good is much more effective than merely being "against" evil.

God gives each of us both the ability and the grace to prevent and overcome evil in the world rather than sit idly by until it debases or submerges us.

(Romans 12:21)

Teach me to restore the good that is missing, O Lord, rather than merely complain about evil.

Don't Ever, Ever Park Your Car In A No-Parking Zone In Japan

By JAMES CARY
(For Hal Boyle)

TOKYO (AP) — I'll never do that again—park in a no parking zone in Japan. The price you pay is too high.

I know now. 3 days, 5 hours and 25 minutes of frustration later.

It seemed so ordinary that day it all began.

Into the Marunouchi Police Station I marched smiling and genial—waving the ticket I had found under the windshield wiper of my ancient vehicle.

"Now if you'll just tell me where I can pay my fine," I suggested.

"Name please," said a stern-looking desk sergeant. "Age. Where do you live? Drivers license. Married? Children? How long have you been in Japan? Foreign registration card."

I gave them all. "Now about that fine," I started hopefully again.

The sergeant was pretty quiet. I was confident the wheels of justice were turning.

"You were illegally parked!" he announced triumphantly.

I had that same general impression, too.

"If you'll tell me where to pay the fine," I began again.

"You must go to Summary Court," came the shattering announcement.

"In America," I started to say.

"This is Japan," he smiled.

Three days later I trampled over a few hundred bodies getting to a seat I was motioned to in front of another policeman.

"You can speak Japanese?" he asked.

"A little," I said.

We stumbled through the life history of my crime again.

"Sign your name in Japanese characters here," he said, thrusting a pen at me.

"I can't write in characters," I said.

The wheels of justice came to a full stop.

"Then we must send you to the prosecutor's office," he announced.

"Yes," I answered when the officer asked if I'd ever had a traffic violation before. "Umpteen years ago I passed in a no passing zone." His jaw dropped in amazement.

"We'll try you here," the policeman stated.

After a long wait an officer said: "We've decided that you won't have to be tried after all."

"That's fine, I beamed. "Now if you'll tell me where to pay—"

"That won't be necessary," he said sternly. "You can go now."

How Sacrilegious Our Merchants .

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Today, Sept. 30, I went shopping at the Corte Madera Shopping Center, and much to my disgust I found two large stores with many aisles cleared for row after row of Christmas stock—cards, wrappings, artificial trees, gifts and toys.

How sacreligious can our merchants get?

Christmas is still almost three months away, all the thrill, excitement, and glory certainly will be gone by then.

Every year merchants start displaying Christmas merchandise earlier and earlier. I guess next year we'll be expected to do our Christmas shopping on July 5!

Glimmers Of Hope For Order In Congo

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

A glimmer of hope has appeared that order might eventually emerge from chaos in the Congo.

From Leopoldville comes word of steadily mounting defections among the followers of sometime Premier Patrice Lumumba. A trickle swelled to a stream with a report of the wholesale defection of 29 of the 44 senators and deputies from Lumumba's own eastern province.

They denounced him as a Communist attempting a dictatorship by terror.

LAST JULY 1 WHEN the former Belgian Congo emerged as an independent state and Lumumba as its premier, the capricious former beer salesman and embezzler held his office only by the slimmest of margins brought about by a shaky coalition.

Of 137 votes in the Congolese House of Representatives, Lumumba received 74.

The coalition long since has disappeared and the mounting opposition to Lumumba assures that he no longer could obtain the necessary majority in Parliament.

THERE REMAINS another step.

This was proposed by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in his attempt before the United Nations General Assembly to moderate the chilling winds of the cold war. No leader should be imposed on the Congolese people, he said. Rather, he should be a man selected by the Congo's own Parliament.

The United Nations, he said, should work toward a revival of Parliament as quickly as possible.

With a successor to Lumumba legally elected by Parliament, the last ground would be cut from the Soviet claim that Lumumba remains the legal premier of the Congo.

It was on the basis of that claim that the Russians attempted to by-pass the United Nations and send aid direct to Lumumba, who had proved their willing stooge.

It also formed the basis of their attack upon Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and of their demands that he resign.

It also was the basis of their charge that Hammarskjold had supported colonialism by failing to use U.N. troops to keep Lumumba in office.

THE CHARGE WAS so obviously false, and Hammarskjold's neutrality and determination not to interfere in the internal affairs of a state were so well known that the Russian charge received serious support only from the Communist bloc.

But out of the possibility that peace may return to the Congo, there also emerges a bitter note.

That is that Hamarskjold may fall victim of his own integrity and loyalty to his office.

The Soviets will not forget that he thwarted their ambitions in the Congo and by a boycott could go far toward destroying his usefulness.

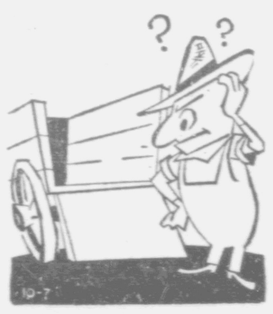
Ex-Governor Tom Dewey, still one of the country's legal lights, tells about a farmer who lost the tailgate of his wagon while hauling a load of fertilizer. As the wagon jolted over the rough roadbed, the fertilizer slowly slid out of the unshored end. Finally the wagon bogged down in the road, and the farmer crawled into the back of the wagon to lighten his load.



Seeing that the wagon was already empty, the farmer scratched his noggin and pondered, "Here I am, dawgone it, stuck with nothing to unload!"

Wistful Feline Gets Short Shrift From Hard-Hearted School Board

The San Rafael Board of Education had an unexpected visitor the other night.

She walked in quite boldly through the open front door, strolled around and examined the entire administration building, settled down for a while to listen to the talk, and then, apparently bored, began washing herself.

When that palled, she leaped on a chair beside the press table, stared wide-eyed at the reporter and gave an urgent "meow." Encouraged by a pat, she jumped onto the table and settled down comfortably in the midst of the copy paper. This was too much.

CAT PROMPTLY found herself back on the floor with no one paying any attention to her. She looked up at board member Rod Martinelli. She padded over to chairman C. Paul Bettini. Then over to Supt. Frank L. Lucas. Her meows got louder and more insistent. Soon it was hard to hear what anyone was saying.

Up rose member Willard Vernon, picked up cat and tossed her out the back door on her silky ear. "Don't tell the SPCA," he grinned.

All was peaceful until about an hour later. From beyond the closed door came a faint sound. "Meow," said a wistful voice out of the dark.

SAN RAFAEL SCHOOL administrators have been giving thought to placing a four-foot fence on Union Street to mark off high school grounds. Eventually, says the superintendent, the whole campus may be enclosed.

Shouldn't the fence be higher? board members wanted to know.

"They go over any fence," said Lucas. "They climb over a fence with three strands of barbed wire and swim in the high school pool at night, he told the board.

San Rafael's summer school in 1961 may be held at two different locations and perhaps for a longer period than four week, if the recommendations of this year's principal, Ralph Hansen, are adopted.

Hansen has suggested that two sites would permit a more flexible program. He also has urged that plans for summer school be started earlier, preferably in December.

SOME STUDENTS were unhappy at the content of their courses, which weren't what they expected.

Hansen feels a more complete description of the curriculum should be made available to students to allow them to make more accurate choice of subjects.

DID YOU KNOW you can buy your Christmas cards and benefit Guide Dogs for the Blind at the same time?

"Novato is recognized as a growing area," said William P. Murray, president of the First National Bank of San Rafael, in revealing that a federal charter had been received for establishment of a Novato branch. A $100,000 structure was contemplated.

Sheriff Walter B. Sellmer sent all his deputies copies of a loyalty oath together with a letter telling them to sign or resign since "it is essential that all members of this department be 100 per cent loyal Americans." Supervisors weren't sure it was a good idea and hadn't made up their minds about compulsion for county workers.

Neutral Nations Must Continue Attempt To Heal U.S.-Soviet Breach

NEW YORK—The intervention of the five neutrals has for its object the renewal of diplomatic contact, now broken, between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. As a means of accomplishing this, the neutrals ask "as a first urgent step" the renewal of contact between Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

This has been interpreted as meaning personal contact, a face-to-face reconciliation between the two men.

But the draft resolution offered by the five neutrals is carefully worded. It does not specifically call for personal contact. Its purpose would be realized if official diplomatic contact were restored.

THE NEUTRALS assume, or at least they hope, that the personal feud is transitory, and that underneath it there still exists the possibility of and the need for negotiations.

For my own part, I am not sure that they are right, that is to say right in believing that if the personal feud were healed, negotiation would be resumed. There are some disturbing signs that since the U-2, which was a personal humiliation for Mr. K., there has been a real change of course in Soviet policy.

Be that as it may, the neutrals are right in refusing to accept the defeatist view that diplomatic negotiation cannot be renewed.

THE NEUTRALS WILL be wiser, it seems to me, not to emphasize, not to press too hard for a personal meeting. Both men have been humiliated, Khrushchev by the avowal that we had some kind of right to fly over his territory, Eisenhower by the insults heaped upon him.

Both men are angry. They cannot forgive and forget. They cannot be expected to meet and talk away their quarrel and shake hands. Nothing can be done with this quarrel except to outlive it.

What can be done, however, is to restore diplomatic contact at lower levels. Even this cannot be done quickly because Gromyko and Herter dare not forget or forgive the quarrel of their chiefs.

The U.N. is faced with the question of whether the Eisenhower-Khrushchev quarrel will be prolonged into the next administration. It may be. We cannot be sure that Mr. K. is not on a new line—one of intransigent cold war.

It is also possible that the candidates may talk themselves into a box where they are in honor bound to continue the feud—to show how brilliantly they can stand up to Mr. K. by making it impossible to sit down with him.

IF SO, THE PROSPECT is dark. An irreparable break which split the world, which broke the United Nations, might not lead to war, but it would surely lead to widespread disorder and violence in all the continents and to a condition of profound and universal uneasiness.

It is the duty of the nations which are not directly involved in the feud to bring about diplomatic contacts. They will probably not lead to any quick results. But they may make it possible to continue diplomatic intercourse after the personal feud has receded into the past.

This may not be easy to do. But the U.N. should not grow weary of trying and it should not walk away from this, the central problem of the world.

FIRST LECTURE

Emotion Cited In Schools Issue

"There's a shrill emotional content to the criticism of public education" that often conceals both the facts and the issues, Prof. Richard Axen of San Francisco State College declared last night in opening a Marin course in "Public Education: Criticisms and Issues."

Critics of the public schools have grown increasingly numerous and vocal since World War II, Axen told the 30 people who turned out for the opening class session at College of Marin. Many of them, he said, are "people on crusades." And their emotional attacks have brought equally emotional response from educators, who, he pointed out, are "defending vested interests."

Axen spent nearly two hours of his lecture cataloguing criticisms of public education. "What is criticised?" he asked, then answered himself: "Nothing is slighted."

The six-lecture course—which will present a different member of what he called the "top brass" of San Francisco State's education department each week—will attempt to "get behind the labels" and find out what the controversies are really about, said Axen. He promised "free and open discussion" at the last two meetings, which will be panel sessions.

Public schools are criticized most heavily, he said, for being "anti-intellectual." Wrapped up with this are criticism of "life adjustment" curricula, automatic promotions, grading systems that do not show the student's position in relation to the whole class, concentration on mediocrity, "frill courses," "too much play," lack of classroom discipline, etc.

Axen made it plain that he and the succeeding lecturers would be on the side of the "vested interests." But he acknowledged that "we're always going to need improvement."

"There's always going to be a power fight," he said. "If we were to change all these things, the current majority would be a minority—in there fighting."

The lecturer, who is associate professor of education at San Francisco State, acknowledged some anti-intellectualism exists in the public schools.

"Primarily, the schools reflect the values that are current in our society," he said. "There is a strong strain of anti-intellectualism, materialism . . . in our society."

Of the criticism of "life adjustment" courses, he asserted: "I have the feeling this 'life adjustment' is somewhat of a straw man."

Axen pooh-poohed the suggestion that public school teaching is dominated by "an insidious conspiracy" of educationists, and declared it is dangerous to make such a charge.

But, he said, it is just as dangerous for defenders of the educationists' vested interests to write off critics as "enemies of public education," although the criticis' language and reasoning is often "hostile, rabble-rousing."

"There is a tendency for both sides to cloak their arguments in self-righteous terms," he said.

There exists, he said, a fundamental conflict: "By law, the lay public has the responsibility for public education through boards of education; by tradition, professional educators have the responsibility."

Next lecturer on the series will be Walcott Beatty, chairman of San Francisco State's division of psychology. He will speak next Thursday at 7 p.m. in Olney Hall on, "How deeply is psychology involved in the issues?"

The course is sponsored by San Francisco State, College of Marin, the Marin County School Department and the 14th District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Registration For Election Over 7 Million

SACRAMENTO (AP)—No doubt about it: California's registration for the November presidential election will hit a record seven million-plus.

In fact, Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan speculated today that the figure may even go beyond 7,300,000.

That would mean an unprecedented surge of 500,000 voters over the previous high of 6,752,421, established in 1958. For the 1960 primary, the total dropped to 6,375,282.

BIG GAINS

Jordan based his estimate on a prospective 10 per cent increase in registration. A third of the 58 counties have forwarded their figures to Sacramento; none shows a gain of less than 12 per cent.

The huge increase shows heavy interest in the presidential race and the effects of an intensive drive to sign up the voters.

Organized labor and Democrats, in particular, were active in soliciting registrations. The Democrats, who led Republicans by 1,156,520 in June, are expected to wind up with a margin of 1,350,000 or better.

DEMO EDGE

The statewide ratio probably will remain 3-2 Democratic.

Los Angeles County, with more than 40 per cent of the state total, paced the statewide increase. It came up with a record 3,011,379 registration.

Jordan said that of the available county figures, Marin, Butte, Monterey, Placer, Sacramento, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, Sonoma and Tulare averaged a gain of 15.7 per cent.

Russell Cave, a cavern in Tennessee, was inhabited by stone age people 9,000 years ago.

Tam Bond Committee Convinced Of Need

rate explosion will combine to make it increasingly tough for a youngster to gain admission to a university. If Marin is to send substantial numbers of young people on to higher education and have them succeed at universities — as has been the case up to now—Marin must provide an even better basic education up to and including high school.

Because competition for college admission will continue to stiffen, college preparation must improve. Just "holding the line" will prove a handicap to college-bound Marin Youth facing ever-stiffer competition.

Unless expansion is begun at once, Drake, Redwood and Tam students face increasingly inadequate facilities as overcrowding progresses. Physical facilities cannot guarantee a good education, of course; but inadequate and overcrowded facilities can make it impossible to maintain or improve education standards.

So much for the essential reasons to vote for the bonds.

The only public statements against the bond measures thus far have come from P. J. Rowland, president of the discredited Marin County Taxpayers Assn. The arguments—all eight of them—were reported rather fully in last Tuesday's Independent-Journal and aren't worth repeating in detail again here.

Suffice it to say that Rowland and his phantom Taxpayers Assn. (if it actually is a bona fide organization any more) have been against everything that involved spending any public money since the mind of man runneth not to the contrary.

Rowland's only "constructive" alternative suggests that 1,100 students beyond the schools' 4,143 capacity be accommodated by "better management."

This led one wag to suggest, "Maybe Rowland has a manager who can fit a size 12 foot into a size 8 shoe by 'better management.'"

Another wag predicted that before the election was over Rowland would be suggesting a compulsory birth control law to avert the enrollment crisis just ahead. When a serious listener observed that even birth control couldn't stop the oncoming rush of youngsters already in grade schools, it was facetiously suggested that maybe Rowland would advocate retroactive birth control.

While these comments are inappropriate to a serious discussion of the pros and cons of the bonds, they do serve a good purpose. They put Rowland's stated opposition in its proper perspective—not reasonable enough to be taken seriously.

The most serious opposition which the bond issue faces will come from heavily burdened taxpayers who in good conscience will oppose the increase in taxes that the bonds will bring. (It will amount only to about eight cents on the tax rate; less than 50 cents a month on a home assessed at $30,000.)

Just as there are a few in times of international stress who would prefer "peace at any price," so there are a few who would prefer avoiding a tax increase "at any price."

Obviously this opposition comes from those not fully informed as to the simple facts of the imminent necessity to expand Drake, Redwood and Tam, and not informed about the "pared to the bone" plan for meeting the necessities.

The only reasonable argument against the bond proposal seems to be that the plans don't provide for sufficient expansion. The planning was too short-sighted. The taxpayers and parents who scrutinized the plans were over-zealous in holding to immediate necessities.

Actually, it would be better to go ahead with the original 6.2-million-dollar bond proposal—so this argument goes.

But the 6.2-million-dollar proposal is not the one on the ballot Tuesday. So it's a question of meeting the necessities with the three-million bond issue, or not meeting them at this time.

Registration For Election Over 7 Million

SACRAMENTO (AP)—No doubt about it: California's registration for the November presidential election will hit a record seven million-plus.

In fact, Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan speculated today that the figure may even go beyond 7,300,000.

That would mean an unprecedented surge of 500,000 voters over the previous high of 6,752,421, established in 1958. For the 1960 primary, the total dropped to 6,375,282.

BIG GAINS

Jordan based his estimate on a prospective 10 per cent increase in registration. A third of the 58 counties have forwarded their figures to Sacramento; none shows a gain of less than 12 per cent.

The huge increase shows heavy interest in the presidential race and the effects of an intensive drive to sign up the voters.

Organized labor and Democrats, in particular, were active in soliciting registrations. The Democrats, who led Republicans by 1,156,520 in June, are expected to wind up with a margin of 1,350,000 or better.

DEMO EDGE

The statewide ratio probably will remain 3-2 Democratic.

Los Angeles County, with more than 40 per cent of the state total, paced the statewide increase. It came up with a record 3,011,379 registration.

Jordan said that of the available county figures, Marin, Butte, Monterey, Placer, Sacramento, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, Sonoma and Tulare averaged a gain of 15.7 per cent.

Russell Cave, a cavern in Tennessee, was inhabited by stone age people 9,000 years ago.

rate explosion will combine to make it increasingly tough for a youngster to gain admission to a university. If Marin is to send substantial numbers of young people on to higher education and have them succeed at universities — as has been the case up to now—Marin must provide an even better basic education up to and including high school.

Because competition for college admission will continue to stiffen, college preparation must improve. Just "holding the line" will prove a handicap to college-bound Marin Youth facing ever-stiffer competition.

Unless expansion is begun at once, Drake, Redwood and Tam students face increasingly inadequate facilities as overcrowding progresses. Physical facilities cannot guarantee a good education, of course; but inadequate and overcrowded facilities can make it impossible to maintain or improve education standards.

So much for the essential reasons to vote for the bonds.

The only public statements against the bond measures thus far have come from P. J. Rowland, president of the discredited Marin County Taxpayers Assn. The arguments—all eight of them—were reported rather fully in last Tuesday's Independent-Journal and aren't worth repeating in detail again here.

Suffice it to say that Rowland and his phantom Taxpayers Assn. (if it actually is a bona fide organization any more) have been against everything that involved spending any public money since the mind of man runneth not to the contrary.

Rowland's only "constructive" alternative suggests that 1,100 students beyond the schools' 4,143 capacity be accommodated by "better management."

This led one wag to suggest, "Maybe Rowland has a manager who can fit a size 12 foot into a size 8 shoe by 'better management.'"

Another wag predicted that before the election was over Rowland would be suggesting a compulsory birth control law to avert the enrollment crisis just ahead. When a serious listener observed that even birth control couldn't stop the oncoming rush of youngsters already in grade schools, it was facetiously suggested that maybe Rowland would advocate retroactive birth control.

While these comments are inappropriate to a serious discussion of the pros and cons of the bonds, they do serve a good purpose. They put Rowland's stated opposition in its proper perspective—not reasonable enough to be taken seriously.

The most serious opposition which the bond issue faces will come from heavily burdened taxpayers who in good conscience will oppose the increase in taxes that the bonds will bring. (It will amount only to about eight cents on the tax rate; less than 50 cents a month on a home assessed at $30,000.)

Just as there are a few in times of international stress who would prefer "peace at any price," so there are a few who would prefer avoiding a tax increase "at any price."

Obviously this opposition comes from those not fully informed as to the simple facts of the imminent necessity to expand Drake, Redwood and Tam, and not informed about the "pared to the bone" plan for meeting the necessities.

The only reasonable argument against the bond proposal seems to be that the plans don't provide for sufficient expansion. The planning was too short-sighted. The taxpayers and parents who scrutinized the plans were over-zealous in holding to immediate necessities.

Actually, it would be better to go ahead with the original 6.2-million-dollar bond proposal—so this argument goes.

But the 6.2-million-dollar proposal is not the one on the ballot Tuesday. So it's a question of meeting the necessities with the three-million bond issue, or not meeting them at this time.

DeMaestri Finally Has To Work For That Fat World Series Pay

Joe DeMaestri has played in more than 1,000 major league baseball contests, but until yesterday the World Series was just something he watched.

And, for a while, we had the awful feeling that the San Anselmo utility infielder would continue as merely a witness, but from a nice vantage point — the Yankee dugout.

"Pretty soft," one guy said, "DeMaestri's gonna pick up about eight thousand bucks for just sitting on the bench."

But Joe finally had to lift a finger to work for the World Series paycheck when Manager Casey Stengel sent him into the lineup at shortstop in the sixth inning. Whenever the Yankees get a lead, they put the light hitting DeMaestri into shortstop solely for defensive purposes. In a recent interview Stengel admitted :"If I want to start my best defensive team I'll use DeMaestri at shortstop and Tony Kubek in left field."

A nice tribute to Joe's glove work, but not much commentary for his bat. Well, Joe fooled him when he slammed a single and scored in the Yankee romp yesterday. I can't understand why Mantle got all the headlines. Joe's hit was a headline in itself—a .222 hitter getting a safety in the World Series!

THAT JOE was nervous was obvious in his first at bat. Chewing gum with the rapidity of a high school girl, Joe watched the first pitch sail over for a strike. Then he whiffed the next pitch and fouled off the third offering. We thought he was too nervous to even see the ball, but lo and behold he cracked the fourth pitch sharply to right field.

Then the cameras focused on him at first base just as he was taking a big, deep breath which looked more like a sigh of relief.

We'll forget his next time at bat. Heck, 10 other Yankees struck out, so why can't Joe do the same once in a while?

In the field the San Anselmo spaghetti-bender was flawless. Of course, he didn't have a chance, but he looked good catching a throw in from left fielder Tony Kubek on two occasions. Didn't drop the ball once!

THERE'S ONE important thing about yesterday's game: If Joe never plays in a World Series game again his name will remain in the record books 'til the end of time.

Heck, 30 years from now he can tell his grandchildren, "Sure, your gramps played in the World Series. Here, look in this book. I batted .500 and never made an error. How about THAT!"

MEANWHILE, back in San Rafael, Joe's proud pop, Syl, was busting the buttons off his vest at the DeMaestri Falstaff Distributing Co. Syl just happened to pass a nearby office when a friend called out that Joe's name was mentioned on TV.

"I was so nervous I couldn't sit downd and I had a big lump in my throat. Boy, when Joe got that hit I was thrilled. I finally realized my lifelong dream of seeing my boy in a World Series."

One of DeMaestri's truck drivers became a bit confused along his route. At one stop a bartender yelled, "Hey, your boss just got a hit."

Then at a later stop, another barkeep moaned, "Hey, your boss just struck out." To which the truck driver quipped: "Oh, yeh! That umpire must be a distributor for a competitive beer."

We hope she sees Joe work even more for that fat paycheck he'll get.

IF THE Yankees trade DeMaestri, he may call it quits and come home to his suds dispenser. But if the S.F. Giants grab him, he'll probably jump at the chance.

New York writer Dick Young said today the Giants indeed are trying to pry Joe loose from the Yanks. He can play either second or short.

Motor And Mast Wagons Sail In Annual Cruise

More than 30 cruisers and sailing craft are expected to take part in the Marin Power Squadron's third annual Drake's Bay cruise this weekend.

Members of the squadron and guest skippers will have a chance to practice their classroom lessons afloat — and outside the Golden Gate—during the two-day affair.

Boats will leave tomorrow morning from a rendezvous point off Sausalito, anchor overnight at Drake's Bay, and return Sunday afternoon.

OLD MARIN NEIGHBORS MEET

These two World Series performers met for the first time, yesterday, although some 18 years ago they were Marin County neighbors. At left is Vern Law, star pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates chatting with Joe DeMaestri of the Yankees. In 1942 Law resided on Willow Avenue in Fairfax and DeMaestri lived at San Anselmo Avenue, only five blocks away. They each went their separate ways, but met yesterday in Pittsburgh and talked about their childhood days. Law later moved to Idaho, while DeMaestri still lives in San Anselmo. (AP Wirephoto)

MARIN FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Tars Tackle Aggies Tonight; Two Local Battles Tomorrow

Marin County's football scene will be comparatively quiet tonight with only one game on local soil—the College of Marin Tars entertaining the Cal Aggies junior varsity, 8 o'clock.

Other local teams in action today are traveling to foreign territories—San Rafael went to Daly City this afternoon to battle Jefferson; tonight it's Drake's unbeaten Pirates in a big game with tough Analy at Sebastopol, 8 o'clock; and Redwood's Giants go to Redwood City (no relation) to battle Carlmont High of that community.

Tomorrow the local action livens with two games at Kentfield. In the afternoon affair, 2 o'clock, Marin Catholic tackles St. Elizabeth's of Oakland, to be aired on Radio KTIM and the night game at 8 o'clock matches Tamalpais against Ukiah. Tomorrow's agenda also includes Novato's unbeaten Hornets against Ft. Bragg at Petaluma, 8 p.m.

TARS VS. AGGIES

Marin Coach Harry Pieper, whose Tars beat Chico State JVs in statistics but lost on the scoreboard 30-0 last week, expects a tough game tonight. Cal Aggies beat Chico State by two touchdowns, so judging by that Marin could be seven TD underdog tonight.

Barnes is filling in for the injured Russ Cook and Beacock is replacing Harry Hersh, also on the disabled list.

For Marin County Athletic League teams this weekend is the end of the practice season before league competition starts next week.

DRAKE VS. ANALY

Drake's contest at Sebastopol looms as a dandy and nine busloads of Pirate student fans will trek to the apple country to cheer their heroes.

Although Analy has lost two of three games, the Tigers are tough, Drake coaches say. In losing to Novato, Analy had its three first string left side linemen out of action. Last week, in losing 12-13 to Montgomery, the Tigers had two touchdowns nullified by penalties.

For tonight's fray the Pi-

Yankees Now 17-10 Series Favorites

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees were back in their familiar role today—a 17 to 10 favorite to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates in the World Series—after the mass murder scene in Forbes Field.

Led by Mickey Mantle, their No. 1 bludgeoner, the Yankees annihilated six Pirate pitchers yesterday as they pounded out 19 assorted hits to bury the National League champions under a 16-3 avalanche.

The series thus moves into Yankee Stadium all even at one victory apiece. Inactive today, the participants resume warfare tomorrow with a southpaw duel featuring Whitey Ford of the Yankees against Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell of the Pirates. The Yanks are 3 to 2 favorites in tomorrow's game.

Mantle, enjoying his greatest Series game, hammered two tremendous home runs, one of 390 feet and another of 460 and drove in a record tying five runs. Elston Howard, catching his first World Series game, walloped a triple and Gil McDougald, Bobby Richardson and Cletis Boyer cracked doubles.

Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh, asked whether he intended to re-appraise the Yankee hitters for the third game, said wryly:

"We already know how to pitch to them."

Then he added philosophically: "I prefer getting beat by a big score as long as I have to lose. Today's game gave me an opportunity to play all of my young fellows. It gave them a little experience in the World Series—some of it pretty hard experience."

Murtaugh could have used the National League All-Stars yesterday and it wouldn't have done him any good. The Yankee sluggers hit everyone and everything in sight. The only thing they missed was the record of 18 runs made by another Yankee team of 24 years ago and 20 hits by the Giants of 1921 and the Cardinals of 1946. They didn't miss either mark by much as they amassed 30 total bases. Right-hander Bob Turley was able to coast to his easy victory after a seven-run explosion in the sixth inning.

"The boys showed me they still know how to win World Series games," said Yankee Manager Casey Stengel. "We could have won the first one, too, but my pitchers let me down.

"We outhit them in the first game, 13 to 8, but apparently those fellows didn't learn nuthin' from it. This might let them see that they better be careful of some of our hitters. I'd say they got a better lesson because I think we were a little better than the day before."

Casey said he planned to use Ralph Terry, his 24-year-old righthander, in the fourth game on Sunday "unless I get in a jam in the third game and have to put him in.

"In that case, I won't be afraid to pitch my young fellow, (32-year-old Bill Stafford) who we brought up from Richmond in August 1. He's a good one, too."

Murtaugh, previously, announced he would follow Mizell with Harvey Haddix, another lefthander, but should New York make it two in a row, it would not surprise if Murtaugh called upon righthander Vernon Law, who beat the Yankees in the opener Wednesday.

Murtaugh planned to start his "right-handed" platoon against the Yankees' 32-year-old lefty. That means Dick Stuart will be back at first base, Gino Cimoli will be in left field and Hal Smith will be behind the plate.

Rocky Nelson was at first base and Smoky Burgess was the catcher yesterday, Cimoli played only because Bob Skinner was out of uniform with a jammed left thumb.

Skinner injured the finger sliding into third base in the opening game. He feared it might be broken but X-rays proved negative. The thumb is badly swollen, however, and he may not be ready for action until Monday.

BRAVES DROP SCHOENDIENST

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Red Schoendienst, the great Milwaukee second baseman whose valiant attempt to come back this year from a bout with tuberculosis tailed off after a fine start, was given his unconditional release by the Braves today.

General Manager John McHale said that the 37-year-old veteran, who came up to the National League in 1945 with St. Louis, had been offered another job in the Braves organization.

"However," McHale said, "Red has decided that he can still help some major league club as a player and this will enable him to look around for another affiliation."

But Joe finally had to lift a finger to work for the World Series paycheck when Manager Casey Stengel sent him into the lineup at shortstop in the sixth inning. Whenever the Yankees get a lead, they put the light hitting DeMaestri into shortstop solely for defensive purposes. In a recent interview Stengel admitted :"If I want to start my best defensive team I'll use DeMaestri at shortstop and Tony Kubek in left field."

A nice tribute to Joe's glove work, but not much commentary for his bat. Well, Joe fooled him when he slammed a single and scored in the Yankee romp yesterday. I can't understand why Mantle got all the headlines. Joe's hit was a headline in itself—a .222 hitter getting a safety in the World Series!

THAT JOE was nervous was obvious in his first at bat. Chewing gum with the rapidity of a high school girl, Joe watched the first pitch sail over for a strike. Then he whiffed the next pitch and fouled off the third offering. We thought he was too nervous to even see the ball, but lo and behold he cracked the fourth pitch sharply to right field.

Then the cameras focused on him at first base just as he was taking a big, deep breath which looked more like a sigh of relief.

We'll forget his next time at bat. Heck, 10 other Yankees struck out, so why can't Joe do the same once in a while?

In the field the San Anselmo spaghetti-bender was flawless. Of course, he didn't have a chance, but he looked good catching a throw in from left fielder Tony Kubek on two occasions. Didn't drop the ball once!

THERE'S ONE important thing about yesterday's game: If Joe never plays in a World Series game again his name will remain in the record books 'til the end of time.

Heck, 30 years from now he can tell his grandchildren, "Sure, your gramps played in the World Series. Here, look in this book. I batted .500 and never made an error. How about THAT!"

MEANWHILE, back in San Rafael, Joe's proud pop, Syl, was busting the buttons off his vest at the DeMaestri Falstaff Distributing Co. Syl just happened to pass a nearby office when a friend called out that Joe's name was mentioned on TV.

"I was so nervous I couldn't sit downd and I had a big lump in my throat. Boy, when Joe got that hit I was thrilled. I finally realized my lifelong dream of seeing my boy in a World Series."

One of DeMaestri's truck drivers became a bit confused along his route. At one stop a bartender yelled, "Hey, your boss just got a hit."

Then at a later stop, another barkeep moaned, "Hey, your boss just struck out." To which the truck driver quipped: "Oh, yeh! That umpire must be a distributor for a competitive beer."

We hope she sees Joe work even more for that fat paycheck he'll get.

IF THE Yankees trade DeMaestri, he may call it quits and come home to his suds dispenser. But if the S.F. Giants grab him, he'll probably jump at the chance.

New York writer Dick Young said today the Giants indeed are trying to pry Joe loose from the Yanks. He can play either second or short.

Motor And Mast Wagons Sail In Annual Cruise

More than 30 cruisers and sailing craft are expected to take part in the Marin Power Squadron's third annual Drake's Bay cruise this weekend.

Members of the squadron and guest skippers will have a chance to practice their classroom lessons afloat — and outside the Golden Gate—during the two-day affair.

Boats will leave tomorrow morning from a rendezvous point off Sausalito, anchor overnight at Drake's Bay, and return Sunday afternoon.

OLD MARIN NEIGHBORS MEET

These two World Series performers met for the first time, yesterday, although some 18 years ago they were Marin County neighbors. At left is Vern Law, star pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates chatting with Joe DeMaestri of the Yankees. In 1942 Law resided on Willow Avenue in Fairfax and DeMaestri lived at San Anselmo Avenue, only five blocks away. They each went their separate ways, but met yesterday in Pittsburgh and talked about their childhood days. Law later moved to Idaho, while DeMaestri still lives in San Anselmo. (AP Wirephoto)

MARIN FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Tars Tackle Aggies Tonight; Two Local Battles Tomorrow

Marin County's football scene will be comparatively quiet tonight with only one game on local soil—the College of Marin Tars entertaining the Cal Aggies junior varsity, 8 o'clock.

Other local teams in action today are traveling to foreign territories—San Rafael went to Daly City this afternoon to battle Jefferson; tonight it's Drake's unbeaten Pirates in a big game with tough Analy at Sebastopol, 8 o'clock; and Redwood's Giants go to Redwood City (no relation) to battle Carlmont High of that community.

Tomorrow the local action livens with two games at Kentfield. In the afternoon affair, 2 o'clock, Marin Catholic tackles St. Elizabeth's of Oakland, to be aired on Radio KTIM and the night game at 8 o'clock matches Tamalpais against Ukiah. Tomorrow's agenda also includes Novato's unbeaten Hornets against Ft. Bragg at Petaluma, 8 p.m.

TARS VS. AGGIES

Marin Coach Harry Pieper, whose Tars beat Chico State JVs in statistics but lost on the scoreboard 30-0 last week, expects a tough game tonight. Cal Aggies beat Chico State by two touchdowns, so judging by that Marin could be seven TD underdog tonight.

Barnes is filling in for the injured Russ Cook and Beacock is replacing Harry Hersh, also on the disabled list.

For Marin County Athletic League teams this weekend is the end of the practice season before league competition starts next week.

DRAKE VS. ANALY

Drake's contest at Sebastopol looms as a dandy and nine busloads of Pirate student fans will trek to the apple country to cheer their heroes.

Although Analy has lost two of three games, the Tigers are tough, Drake coaches say. In losing to Novato, Analy had its three first string left side linemen out of action. Last week, in losing 12-13 to Montgomery, the Tigers had two touchdowns nullified by penalties.

For tonight's fray the Pi-

Yankees Now 17-10 Series Favorites

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees were back in their familiar role today—a 17 to 10 favorite to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates in the World Series—after the mass murder scene in Forbes Field.

Led by Mickey Mantle, their No. 1 bludgeoner, the Yankees annihilated six Pirate pitchers yesterday as they pounded out 19 assorted hits to bury the National League champions under a 16-3 avalanche.

The series thus moves into Yankee Stadium all even at one victory apiece. Inactive today, the participants resume warfare tomorrow with a southpaw duel featuring Whitey Ford of the Yankees against Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell of the Pirates. The Yanks are 3 to 2 favorites in tomorrow's game.

Mantle, enjoying his greatest Series game, hammered two tremendous home runs, one of 390 feet and another of 460 and drove in a record tying five runs. Elston Howard, catching his first World Series game, walloped a triple and Gil McDougald, Bobby Richardson and Cletis Boyer cracked doubles.

Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh, asked whether he intended to re-appraise the Yankee hitters for the third game, said wryly:

"We already know how to pitch to them."

Then he added philosophically: "I prefer getting beat by a big score as long as I have to lose. Today's game gave me an opportunity to play all of my young fellows. It gave them a little experience in the World Series—some of it pretty hard experience."

Murtaugh could have used the National League All-Stars yesterday and it wouldn't have done him any good. The Yankee sluggers hit everyone and everything in sight. The only thing they missed was the record of 18 runs made by another Yankee team of 24 years ago and 20 hits by the Giants of 1921 and the Cardinals of 1946. They didn't miss either mark by much as they amassed 30 total bases. Right-hander Bob Turley was able to coast to his easy victory after a seven-run explosion in the sixth inning.

"The boys showed me they still know how to win World Series games," said Yankee Manager Casey Stengel. "We could have won the first one, too, but my pitchers let me down.

"We outhit them in the first game, 13 to 8, but apparently those fellows didn't learn nuthin' from it. This might let them see that they better be careful of some of our hitters. I'd say they got a better lesson because I think we were a little better than the day before."

Casey said he planned to use Ralph Terry, his 24-year-old righthander, in the fourth game on Sunday "unless I get in a jam in the third game and have to put him in.

"In that case, I won't be afraid to pitch my young fellow, (32-year-old Bill Stafford) who we brought up from Richmond in August 1. He's a good one, too."

Murtaugh, previously, announced he would follow Mizell with Harvey Haddix, another lefthander, but should New York make it two in a row, it would not surprise if Murtaugh called upon righthander Vernon Law, who beat the Yankees in the opener Wednesday.

Murtaugh planned to start his "right-handed" platoon against the Yankees' 32-year-old lefty. That means Dick Stuart will be back at first base, Gino Cimoli will be in left field and Hal Smith will be behind the plate.

Rocky Nelson was at first base and Smoky Burgess was the catcher yesterday, Cimoli played only because Bob Skinner was out of uniform with a jammed left thumb.

Skinner injured the finger sliding into third base in the opening game. He feared it might be broken but X-rays proved negative. The thumb is badly swollen, however, and he may not be ready for action until Monday.

BRAVES DROP SCHOENDIENST

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Red Schoendienst, the great Milwaukee second baseman whose valiant attempt to come back this year from a bout with tuberculosis tailed off after a fine start, was given his unconditional release by the Braves today.

General Manager John McHale said that the 37-year-old veteran, who came up to the National League in 1945 with St. Louis, had been offered another job in the Braves organization.

"However," McHale said, "Red has decided that he can still help some major league club as a player and this will enable him to look around for another affiliation."

Football Roundup: Marin Schedules

rates will be at full strength in search of their fourth victory as first string ends Bill Collins and Gary Schlueter have recovered from injury and illness, respectively.

Inside linemen will be Bob Whelan and Ned Ongaro at tackles, Lloyd Stasiowski and Jack Wisler guards and Dale Thompson over the ball.

In the backfield will be quarterback Sam Johnson, halfbacks Steve Blair and Mike Bresnan and fullback Scott Moriarty. The latter has ripped off 302 yards rushing in the last two games.

REDWOOD-CARLMONT

Redwood, looking toward its league opener against unbeaten Novato next week, expects a good test from Carlmont tonight. With three games under their belts to Carlmont's one, the Giants go into the game with an advantage. But, Carlmont showed it has scoring punch in its first game, losing 25-35 to St. Francis of Mountain View.

Carlmont's coach, Dick Storm, once played for Redwood Coach Bob Troppman when he was an assistant at San Francisco State College.

TAM-UKIAH

Tam's Indians have welcomed the return of fullback Norm Kreuter from the injury list, although Coach Jim Hanretty may limit big Norm to kicking and defensive duties.

If Kreuter doesn't start, sophomore Rich Hamilton will get the nod. Another soph, end Steve Long, also will be in the lineup for the Saturday night duel.

Hanretty announced his probable lineup will be Tom Yarborough and Long at ends, Pete Dornbach and Rick Snow tackles, Paul Farren and Donn Johnson guards, Mickey Johnston center, Tex Hamilton at quarterback, Pat Morgan and Warren Domino at halfbacks and Rich Hamilton at full.

Ukiah has won two of its three games—7-6 over Montgomery of Santa Rosa and 18-12 over Healdsburg, coming from behind in both games. The Ukiah lads lost to a powerful Santa Rosa club, 21-0.

NOVATO VICTORY

Novato's 38-7 rout of John Swett High last week gave Coach Marlin Olsen a chance to test his reserves and he had third stringers in the lineup during the second half. It also gave the Hornets a chance to fool scouts from other Marin schools as Novato limited its offensive patterns to just a few plays.

In winning their third straight the unbeaten north Marinites had a field day with John Picchi and Dennis McCormick each scoring two touchdowns on runs. Fred McElroy scored on a pass from reserve quarterback Don Scribner and defensive back Mike Milano tallied the final score on an intercepted pass.

Once again Novato linemen John Cook, Art Cherry, Ron Grayson and Lou Haas were "tigers."

KTIM GAME

Marin 'Cats Vs. Oakland '11' Tomorrow

By GREG HOBBS

Marin Catholic's scrappy Wildcats, fresh off a thrilling 12-12 tie with San Rafael, clash with the St. Elizabeth Mustangs tomorrow at Kentfield. For stay-at-homes Radio KTIM will broadcast the play-by-play starting at 2 p.m.

The Marin and Oakland schools in past years have established a fierce rivalry and it looks like a hard-hitting game is in the offing. Although Marin leads the Oaklanders in the victory column over the years, Wildcat Coach Harry Moore cites one disadvantage in tomorrow's game: "Last week St. Elizabeth scouted us, but we haven't had a chance to see see them yet."

The Wildcats looked tough in last week's game and can be expected to improve tomorrow. Fullback Jerry Crowe, Marin's leading ground gainer against San Rafael, again will lead the attack.

PASSING ATTACK

The contest figures to be wide open since the Wildcats exhibited quite a passing game. Moore has found three good passers in his backfield—quarterbacks Mike Quinn and John Jones and Crowe—and good receivers in Bill Finn, Gary Ragghianti and Rich Ongaro. Because of this Moore said fans can expect plenty of passes. "If these teams don't want to cover our receivers, we'll flip to them all day long," he said.

The coach also plans to substitute freely "to see what we have." Tomorrow is the Wildcats' last practice game before they take on Drake next week in the Marin Athletic League opener.

Ho-Hum! Mrs. May Wins Again In Injun Valley Golf

Mrs. William May, who has picked up just about every prize the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club has to offer, won another honor this week—the monthly "Tray Day" tournament.

Mrs. May, who recently won the club title for the third straight year, won the tray with a card of 79-11—68.

Flight winners:

Celtics Nip Lakers

KINGSTON, R.I., (AP) — The Boston Celtics now have won five of seven exhibition basketball games from the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Celtics won again last night, 105-104, on the gymnasium floor of the University of Rhode Island. The teams play tonight at Newport.

Bears, Cougars In Berkeley Contest

Call the game at halftime and Coach Marv Levy would be a non-loser in his first season at California.

His Bears led Tulane 3-0, and Army 10-0 and were tied with Notre Dame at 7.

But they're still play 60 minutes of football and Levy is still looking for his first Bear victory.

He hopes to see a stronger second half tomorrow in Berkeley's Memorial Stadium when California plays offense-minded Washington State.

The Cougars, seeking their first victory over California in four years, beat Stanford 15-14 in their opener but lost the next two games although scoring a total of seven touchdowns. Denver won 26-24 and Arizona State beat WSU 24-21.

Mel Melin's arm has given Washington State the collegiate forward passing lead nationally. The Cougars have hit on 44 of 74 attempts for 664 yards, Melin 39 of 64 for 563 yards and four touchdowns.

Keith Lincoln, a halfback who runs, passes, punts and kicks off, however, is the heart of the WSU attack and the key in the Cougars' three-touchdown per game offense.

Gold has completed 63 per cent of his 46 passes for 309 yards and has yet to throw an intercepted pass in 46 attempts. His favorite targets are ends John Papini, Dave George and Tom Bates, and Scattini.

'REAL RAT RACE'

Williams Swamped With Offers Of Employment

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams said today he may have to return to baseball to find the peace and quiet he hoped would result from retirement.

"When I announced I was quitting, it must have sounded like a signal I wanted to go to work," the Boston slugger said. "I never have been in such a sweat in my life.

"The telephone is ringing all the time. I'm getting offers from so many directions I don't know where to turn. It's become a real rat race."

Williams, who closed out his brilliant career with a home run in Boston's Fenway Park a week ago, apparently won't have to scratch around for grocery money.

Two national magazines and a number of book publishers are bidding for his life story.

Hollywood wants him to come out for a series of screen tests. He may play himself in the movie of his life. If not, he'll be featured in baseball and fishing technical shots.

Several baseball clubs, major and minor, are seeking his services in an executive capacity.

From Tokyo has come an attractive offer that he teach baseball to the Yomiuri Giants.

A land development firm wants him to take over a resort hotel in Key West, Fla.

An inveterate fisherman, he is widely sought for fly-casting exhibitions at sportsmen's shows throughout the country. He and ex-heavyweight champion Jack Sharkey have fall shows set in Seattle and Portland, Ore.

"Like many other well-known athletes, Ted may make more money out of competition than in it," said Fred Corcoran, Williams' personal business manager.

Hand-Tied Flies Exhibited At S. R. Hospital

John H. Prescott, administrator, and Mrs. Sally Dade, R.N., surgery nurse at the hospital, made the flies. Included are both dry and wet flies and bugs, arranged for display on driftwood and in water. The exhibit also shows equipment and materials for fly tying.

Cal Hunter Killed In Oregon Accident

EUGENE, Ore., (UPI) — Willard Dale Carney, 51, of Costa Mesa, Calif., was accidentally shot and killed by another deer hunter yesterday about 14 miles northeast of here.

State Police said the fatal bullet was fired by William Gordon Jordan, 57, Goble, Ore.

Poor Indians Host Huskies, On TV Yet!

Lo the poor Indian — Stanford variety.

Not only do the Tribe football forces meet heavily favored Washington tomorrow, but they do it after the Huskies were upset by Navy.

"I wish," says Stanford Coach Jack Curtice, "that Washington had beaten Navy 40-0. That way they might have come in here feeling fat."

But Navy won 15-14 on a field goal in the final minute which brings the Rose Bowl champions to town aiming for revenge and a recoup of national prestige. They fell from No. 3 in the Associated Press poll to No. 12.

Stanford hasn't won a game. The Indians dropped their opener to Washington State and then fell before Wisconsin and the Air Force, the latter by a 32-9 count.

"Washington has more speed than the Air Force and has a much larger team," asserts Curtice. "But we will be in there fighting."

TOP QUARTERBACKS

Two of the finest quarterbacks will be on the firing line, All-America Bob Schloredt of Washington and Dick Norman of Stanford, the nation's leading passer last year and already drafted by the Chicago Bears.

Schloredt, wearing No. 15, doesn't hold the passing record that Norman has compiled, but he's a solid runner, good team leader and good on defense.

Curtice uses the wild card substitution rule to get Norman out of the lineup when the Indians go on defense. But Dick, a 195-pound senior who wears No. 18, poses a big threat on offense.

He seems almost a cinch to join the exclusive '300" club this year—emblematic of completing 300 passes during a collegiate career. He has hit 258 with seven games left.

Stanford opens with veterans Mac Wylie, No. 34, Gil Dowd, No. 38, and Skip Face, No. 42, operating with Norman.

Along the line, Washington appears much the stronger with a veteran crew two-deep and even deeper in some positions. Stanford banks on sophomores and juniors in many of the key spots.

DRESSING ROOMS

Both Teams Calm After Yank Rout

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Yankees shared the sunshine and shadows during the second World Series game at Forbes Field Thursday, but the sunshine followed only the Yankees to the dressing rooms.

The shadows hung over the Bucs' quarters, and they were cast by the horrendous 16-3 drubbing inflicted by the New Yorkers to square the Series at one-all.

The elation in the Yankee dressing room was not as high-pitched as might be imagined, and by the same token the gloom in the Pirate quarters was not unfathomable.

"I prefer getting beat by a big score as long as I have to lose," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh philosophically.

Don Hoak, Buc third baseman, echoed Murtaugh's sentiments.

"Hell, we got beat," he exploded. "And I'm like Danny. If we lose by a big score we don't have to hang our heads and worry about some mistakes — the kind of mistakes that cost you victory in these 3-2 and 2-1 games. We made a good many mistakes out there, but we learned something. We'll profit by it and don't worry about us not winning the Series. We'll win okay."

Bob Friend, starting and losing pitcher, took the defeat hardest. He pitched good ball the four innings he worked before being taken out for a pinch hitter. He fanned six, walked two, allowed six hits and two earned runs.

The Yankees, to whom World Series victories are old hat, took the game pretty much in stride. Mickey Mantle virtually apologized for hitting two rousing home runs.

"I wish I could have saved them for a time when they meant something," the Mick said.

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, explained why he put Yogi Berra in left field and Elston Howard behind the plate.

"I'm not afraid to start Berra anywhere," the gnarled skipper said. "He's awkward but he covers a lot of ground. We need his hitting."

Starter Bob Turley said he thought he had set a personal major league record.

"I don't think I ever pitched almost nine innings before and never ever struck out one man," he grinned.

There was no real moaning and no gloating in either dressing room. The players realized two games don't make a Series.

49ers Leave For 3 Games On The Road

Thirty-seven San Francisco 49ers were to take off today for a three-game eastern road swing against Detroit, Chicago aid Green Bay.

To nobody's surprise, Coach Red Hickey put Leo Nomellini back in the starting defensive line. Hickey benched the 260-pound veteran against the Rams last Sunday. It was the first time Nomellini had not started in 123 games.

Nomellini was inserted in the second quarter and played a ferocious game thereafter. Hickey did not admit it, but most observers felt that Nomellini had been benched to restore a little of the fire which has made him All-Pro three times including last year.

Halfback Ray Norton is not yet on the active roster, but will make the trip, according to Hickey. Norton was signed after he returned from a disappointing showing in the sprint events at the recent Olympic games.

Offensive tackle John Thomas will not make the trip.

rates will be at full strength in search of their fourth victory as first string ends Bill Collins and Gary Schlueter have recovered from injury and illness, respectively.

Inside linemen will be Bob Whelan and Ned Ongaro at tackles, Lloyd Stasiowski and Jack Wisler guards and Dale Thompson over the ball.

In the backfield will be quarterback Sam Johnson, halfbacks Steve Blair and Mike Bresnan and fullback Scott Moriarty. The latter has ripped off 302 yards rushing in the last two games.

REDWOOD-CARLMONT

Redwood, looking toward its league opener against unbeaten Novato next week, expects a good test from Carlmont tonight. With three games under their belts to Carlmont's one, the Giants go into the game with an advantage. But, Carlmont showed it has scoring punch in its first game, losing 25-35 to St. Francis of Mountain View.

Carlmont's coach, Dick Storm, once played for Redwood Coach Bob Troppman when he was an assistant at San Francisco State College.

TAM-UKIAH

Tam's Indians have welcomed the return of fullback Norm Kreuter from the injury list, although Coach Jim Hanretty may limit big Norm to kicking and defensive duties.

If Kreuter doesn't start, sophomore Rich Hamilton will get the nod. Another soph, end Steve Long, also will be in the lineup for the Saturday night duel.

Hanretty announced his probable lineup will be Tom Yarborough and Long at ends, Pete Dornbach and Rick Snow tackles, Paul Farren and Donn Johnson guards, Mickey Johnston center, Tex Hamilton at quarterback, Pat Morgan and Warren Domino at halfbacks and Rich Hamilton at full.

Ukiah has won two of its three games—7-6 over Montgomery of Santa Rosa and 18-12 over Healdsburg, coming from behind in both games. The Ukiah lads lost to a powerful Santa Rosa club, 21-0.

NOVATO VICTORY

Novato's 38-7 rout of John Swett High last week gave Coach Marlin Olsen a chance to test his reserves and he had third stringers in the lineup during the second half. It also gave the Hornets a chance to fool scouts from other Marin schools as Novato limited its offensive patterns to just a few plays.

In winning their third straight the unbeaten north Marinites had a field day with John Picchi and Dennis McCormick each scoring two touchdowns on runs. Fred McElroy scored on a pass from reserve quarterback Don Scribner and defensive back Mike Milano tallied the final score on an intercepted pass.

KTIM GAME

Marin 'Cats Vs. Oakland '11' Tomorrow

By GREG HOBBS

Marin Catholic's scrappy Wildcats, fresh off a thrilling 12-12 tie with San Rafael, clash with the St. Elizabeth Mustangs tomorrow at Kentfield. For stay-at-homes Radio KTIM will broadcast the play-by-play starting at 2 p.m.

The Marin and Oakland schools in past years have established a fierce rivalry and it looks like a hard-hitting game is in the offing. Although Marin leads the Oaklanders in the victory column over the years, Wildcat Coach Harry Moore cites one disadvantage in tomorrow's game: "Last week St. Elizabeth scouted us, but we haven't had a chance to see see them yet."

The Wildcats looked tough in last week's game and can be expected to improve tomorrow. Fullback Jerry Crowe, Marin's leading ground gainer against San Rafael, again will lead the attack.

PASSING ATTACK

The contest figures to be wide open since the Wildcats exhibited quite a passing game. Moore has found three good passers in his backfield—quarterbacks Mike Quinn and John Jones and Crowe—and good receivers in Bill Finn, Gary Ragghianti and Rich Ongaro. Because of this Moore said fans can expect plenty of passes. "If these teams don't want to cover our receivers, we'll flip to them all day long," he said.

The coach also plans to substitute freely "to see what we have." Tomorrow is the Wildcats' last practice game before they take on Drake next week in the Marin Athletic League opener.

Ho-Hum! Mrs. May Wins Again In Injun Valley Golf

Mrs. William May, who has picked up just about every prize the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club has to offer, won another honor this week—the monthly "Tray Day" tournament.

Mrs. May, who recently won the club title for the third straight year, won the tray with a card of 79-11—68.

Flight winners:

Celtics Nip Lakers

KINGSTON, R.I., (AP) — The Boston Celtics now have won five of seven exhibition basketball games from the Los Angeles Lakers.

Bears, Cougars In Berkeley Contest

Call the game at halftime and Coach Marv Levy would be a non-loser in his first season at California.

His Bears led Tulane 3-0, and Army 10-0 and were tied with Notre Dame at 7.

But they're still play 60 minutes of football and Levy is still looking for his first Bear victory.

He hopes to see a stronger second half tomorrow in Berkeley's Memorial Stadium when California plays offense-minded Washington State.

The Cougars, seeking their first victory over California in four years, beat Stanford 15-14 in their opener but lost the next two games although scoring a total of seven touchdowns. Denver won 26-24 and Arizona State beat WSU 24-21.

Mel Melin's arm has given Washington State the collegiate forward passing lead nationally. The Cougars have hit on 44 of 74 attempts for 664 yards, Melin 39 of 64 for 563 yards and four touchdowns.

Keith Lincoln, a halfback who runs, passes, punts and kicks off, however, is the heart of the WSU attack and the key in the Cougars' three-touchdown per game offense.

Gold has completed 63 per cent of his 46 passes for 309 yards and has yet to throw an intercepted pass in 46 attempts. His favorite targets are ends John Papini, Dave George and Tom Bates, and Scattini.

'REAL RAT RACE'

Williams Swamped With Offers Of Employment

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams said today he may have to return to baseball to find the peace and quiet he hoped would result from retirement.

"When I announced I was quitting, it must have sounded like a signal I wanted to go to work," the Boston slugger said. "I never have been in such a sweat in my life.

"The telephone is ringing all the time. I'm getting offers from so many directions I don't know where to turn. It's become a real rat race."

Williams, who closed out his brilliant career with a home run in Boston's Fenway Park a week ago, apparently won't have to scratch around for grocery money.

Two national magazines and a number of book publishers are bidding for his life story.

Hollywood wants him to come out for a series of screen tests. He may play himself in the movie of his life. If not, he'll be featured in baseball and fishing technical shots.

Several baseball clubs, major and minor, are seeking his services in an executive capacity.

From Tokyo has come an attractive offer that he teach baseball to the Yomiuri Giants.

A land development firm wants him to take over a resort hotel in Key West, Fla.

An inveterate fisherman, he is widely sought for fly-casting exhibitions at sportsmen's shows throughout the country. He and ex-heavyweight champion Jack Sharkey have fall shows set in Seattle and Portland, Ore.

"Like many other well-known athletes, Ted may make more money out of competition than in it," said Fred Corcoran, Williams' personal business manager.

Hand-Tied Flies Exhibited At S. R. Hospital

John H. Prescott, administrator, and Mrs. Sally Dade, R.N., surgery nurse at the hospital, made the flies. Included are both dry and wet flies and bugs, arranged for display on driftwood and in water. The exhibit also shows equipment and materials for fly tying.

Cal Hunter Killed In Oregon Accident

EUGENE, Ore., (UPI) — Willard Dale Carney, 51, of Costa Mesa, Calif., was accidentally shot and killed by another deer hunter yesterday about 14 miles northeast of here.

State Police said the fatal bullet was fired by William Gordon Jordan, 57, Goble, Ore.

Poor Indians Host Huskies, On TV Yet!

Lo the poor Indian — Stanford variety.

Not only do the Tribe football forces meet heavily favored Washington tomorrow, but they do it after the Huskies were upset by Navy.

"I wish," says Stanford Coach Jack Curtice, "that Washington had beaten Navy 40-0. That way they might have come in here feeling fat."

But Navy won 15-14 on a field goal in the final minute which brings the Rose Bowl champions to town aiming for revenge and a recoup of national prestige. They fell from No. 3 in the Associated Press poll to No. 12.

Stanford hasn't won a game. The Indians dropped their opener to Washington State and then fell before Wisconsin and the Air Force, the latter by a 32-9 count.

"Washington has more speed than the Air Force and has a much larger team," asserts Curtice. "But we will be in there fighting."

TOP QUARTERBACKS

Two of the finest quarterbacks will be on the firing line, All-America Bob Schloredt of Washington and Dick Norman of Stanford, the nation's leading passer last year and already drafted by the Chicago Bears.

Schloredt, wearing No. 15, doesn't hold the passing record that Norman has compiled, but he's a solid runner, good team leader and good on defense.

Curtice uses the wild card substitution rule to get Norman out of the lineup when the Indians go on defense. But Dick, a 195-pound senior who wears No. 18, poses a big threat on offense.

He seems almost a cinch to join the exclusive '300" club this year—emblematic of completing 300 passes during a collegiate career. He has hit 258 with seven games left.

Stanford opens with veterans Mac Wylie, No. 34, Gil Dowd, No. 38, and Skip Face, No. 42, operating with Norman.

Along the line, Washington appears much the stronger with a veteran crew two-deep and even deeper in some positions. Stanford banks on sophomores and juniors in many of the key spots.

DRESSING ROOMS

Both Teams Calm After Yank Rout

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Yankees shared the sunshine and shadows during the second World Series game at Forbes Field Thursday, but the sunshine followed only the Yankees to the dressing rooms.

The shadows hung over the Bucs' quarters, and they were cast by the horrendous 16-3 drubbing inflicted by the New Yorkers to square the Series at one-all.

The elation in the Yankee dressing room was not as high-pitched as might be imagined, and by the same token the gloom in the Pirate quarters was not unfathomable.

"I prefer getting beat by a big score as long as I have to lose," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh philosophically.

"Hell, we got beat," he exploded. "And I'm like Danny. If we lose by a big score we don't have to hang our heads and worry about some mistakes — the kind of mistakes that cost you victory in these 3-2 and 2-1 games. We made a good many mistakes out there, but we learned something. We'll profit by it and don't worry about us not winning the Series. We'll win okay."

Bob Friend, starting and losing pitcher, took the defeat hardest. He pitched good ball the four innings he worked before being taken out for a pinch hitter. He fanned six, walked two, allowed six hits and two earned runs.

The Yankees, to whom World Series victories are old hat, took the game pretty much in stride. Mickey Mantle virtually apologized for hitting two rousing home runs.

"I wish I could have saved them for a time when they meant something," the Mick said.

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, explained why he put Yogi Berra in left field and Elston Howard behind the plate.

"I'm not afraid to start Berra anywhere," the gnarled skipper said. "He's awkward but he covers a lot of ground. We need his hitting."

Starter Bob Turley said he thought he had set a personal major league record.

"I don't think I ever pitched almost nine innings before and never ever struck out one man," he grinned.

There was no real moaning and no gloating in either dressing room. The players realized two games don't make a Series.

49ers Leave For 3 Games On The Road

Thirty-seven San Francisco 49ers were to take off today for a three-game eastern road swing against Detroit, Chicago aid Green Bay.

To nobody's surprise, Coach Red Hickey put Leo Nomellini back in the starting defensive line. Hickey benched the 260-pound veteran against the Rams last Sunday. It was the first time Nomellini had not started in 123 games.

Nomellini was inserted in the second quarter and played a ferocious game thereafter. Hickey did not admit it, but most observers felt that Nomellini had been benched to restore a little of the fire which has made him All-Pro three times including last year.

Halfback Ray Norton is not yet on the active roster, but will make the trip, according to Hickey. Norton was signed after he returned from a disappointing showing in the sprint events at the recent Olympic games.

Offensive tackle John Thomas will not make the trip.

Turkey Shoot At Marin Range Scheduled Sunday

An old-fashioned turkey shoot will be held at the Marin County Pistol Range in San Rafael from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

The contest is open to men, women and children over 14 years of age, Chairman Art V. Wiggins announced. Both skill and luck targets will be used, which means that even those who do not shoot at all will have an even chance of walking off with one of the many turkeys that will be given away.

Participants may sign up on the day of the shoot, at the pistol range located near the San Rafael sanitation plant off San Quentin Road.

Weapons to be used in the shoot are .22 rifles, pistols, and shotguns. The event is sponsored by the state champion Marin Sheriff's Pistol Team. Members of the team include Sidney Weber, Edward Levine, Ernest Nielson, Carl Sears and Wiggins. They will not take part in the contest.

Proceeds from the event will be used to help pay expenses for activities of the sheriff's pistol team in future matches. This year, the team took the state championship. "Next year, we hope to go to the nationals," said Wiggins.

BOWLING

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Rains Make Tremendous Striped Bass Fishing On Bay Even Better

STEVENS

If there was any one thing that could be added to the tremendous runs of striped bass that are infesting the bay waters at present, it would be a good fall of rain.

As we relay this message to the masses, it is raining, a warm gentle rain that is very, very welcome.

Kinda hard, though to improve the fishing right now. We could fill four pages of single spaced type merely listing the names of the hundreds of ardent anglers who have forgotten all about those blank days and are reaping the harvest. It's hard to mention a section of the bay waters that isn't teeming with fresh run stripers. Trolling in the Racoon Strait, off California City, Red Rock and both the Brothers and the Sisters has paid off with limits catches every day—usually twice a day.

Which reminds us, there are two large boats working out of Tony Caruso's place at Sausalito, the Hurricane with Captain Henry Schramm at the helm, and the Sea Angler, skippered by John Sparks. Both boats operate on a twice-a-day schedule unless chartered for an all-day trip. Mostly it is trolling, but they will fish with bait if requested.

TALKING to Caruso Wednesday we surmised salmon fishing has been rather slow. But some good sized specimens have come in. Skipper Jack Winslow of the Maybe reported six salmon from six to 30 pounds on Tuesday, and on Wednesday the scuttlebutt over the radio was that Captain Frank Sargent was on the way to port with a fair catch, including one 25-pounder and one that weighed an even 39 pounds.

ROY ERWIN of the Western Sports Shop in San Rafael caught no fish the past week or 10 days, but he did catch a nice case of the flu. Hence no reports from that source.

Deep Sea rockfishing is prime at present. Word from Ray Gardner's at Princeton informed us that between 50 and 60 ling cod have been coming in daily, as well as limits of rockfish.

EVERETT ELROD, one of our faithful contact men, sadly reported a complete blank for two days of dove hunting. One lone pigeon was the sum total for that hungry hunter. We opine Elrod must have been in the wrong locale. We have several reports from the East Bay of limits of doves and pigeons both on the first day of the season.

WE HAVE suggested on various occasions that fishing for stripers is far better from Tuesday to Saturday than on Sunday. With the present terrific run of stripers, though, hundreds of bass will be taken on Sunday as well as during the week. BUT we still stress the fact that anyone able to get out after fish during the week, should do so instead of on Sunday. How come? Simply, that there are a great many persons who are unable to get away from work to go fishing except on the Sabbath. Some of those people are going to be disappointed when they find all the seats aboard the party boats and all the skiffs have been taken. It has happened before and it will again. So, if you can substitute a week day for your fishing, do so.

The show will be the first in the Bay Area to feature new model boats, trailers, accessories and recreation equipment.

Cy Lee, a chartered member of the Southern California Marine Association, who now lives in San Mateo, is sales manager.

Hub Businessmen's Tourney Monday

More than 100 golfers are expected to flock to the Meadow Club in Fairfax next Monday to shoot for glittering trophies in the San Anselmo Businessmen's Special Invitation Tournament.

Starting time will be at 7:30 a.m., according to Tournament Chairman John Bell. The Calloway handicap system will be used. Each man in a foursome will be competing against the other members of the same foursome and the winner, using his handicap for low net score, will receive a trophy, Bell explained.

Turkey Shoot At Marin Range Scheduled Sunday

An old-fashioned turkey shoot will be held at the Marin County Pistol Range in San Rafael from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

The contest is open to men, women and children over 14 years of age, Chairman Art V. Wiggins announced. Both skill and luck targets will be used, which means that even those who do not shoot at all will have an even chance of walking off with one of the many turkeys that will be given away.

Participants may sign up on the day of the shoot, at the pistol range located near the San Rafael sanitation plant off San Quentin Road.

Weapons to be used in the shoot are .22 rifles, pistols, and shotguns. The event is sponsored by the state champion Marin Sheriff's Pistol Team. Members of the team include Sidney Weber, Edward Levine, Ernest Nielson, Carl Sears and Wiggins. They will not take part in the contest.

Proceeds from the event will be used to help pay expenses for activities of the sheriff's pistol team in future matches. This year, the team took the state championship. "Next year, we hope to go to the nationals," said Wiggins.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

If there was any one thing that could be added to the tremendous runs of striped bass that are infesting the bay waters at present, it would be a good fall of rain.

As we relay this message to the masses, it is raining, a warm gentle rain that is very, very welcome.

Kinda hard, though to improve the fishing right now. We could fill four pages of single spaced type merely listing the names of the hundreds of ardent anglers who have forgotten all about those blank days and are reaping the harvest. It's hard to mention a section of the bay waters that isn't teeming with fresh run stripers. Trolling in the Racoon Strait, off California City, Red Rock and both the Brothers and the Sisters has paid off with limits catches every day—usually twice a day.

Which reminds us, there are two large boats working out of Tony Caruso's place at Sausalito, the Hurricane with Captain Henry Schramm at the helm, and the Sea Angler, skippered by John Sparks. Both boats operate on a twice-a-day schedule unless chartered for an all-day trip. Mostly it is trolling, but they will fish with bait if requested.

TALKING to Caruso Wednesday we surmised salmon fishing has been rather slow. But some good sized specimens have come in. Skipper Jack Winslow of the Maybe reported six salmon from six to 30 pounds on Tuesday, and on Wednesday the scuttlebutt over the radio was that Captain Frank Sargent was on the way to port with a fair catch, including one 25-pounder and one that weighed an even 39 pounds.

ROY ERWIN of the Western Sports Shop in San Rafael caught no fish the past week or 10 days, but he did catch a nice case of the flu. Hence no reports from that source.

Deep Sea rockfishing is prime at present. Word from Ray Gardner's at Princeton informed us that between 50 and 60 ling cod have been coming in daily, as well as limits of rockfish.

EVERETT ELROD, one of our faithful contact men, sadly reported a complete blank for two days of dove hunting. One lone pigeon was the sum total for that hungry hunter. We opine Elrod must have been in the wrong locale. We have several reports from the East Bay of limits of doves and pigeons both on the first day of the season.

WE HAVE suggested on various occasions that fishing for stripers is far better from Tuesday to Saturday than on Sunday. With the present terrific run of stripers, though, hundreds of bass will be taken on Sunday as well as during the week. BUT we still stress the fact that anyone able to get out after fish during the week, should do so instead of on Sunday. How come? Simply, that there are a great many persons who are unable to get away from work to go fishing except on the Sabbath. Some of those people are going to be disappointed when they find all the seats aboard the party boats and all the skiffs have been taken. It has happened before and it will again. So, if you can substitute a week day for your fishing, do so.

Strawberry Girds For Neider Fight

The Strawberry Property Owners Assn. was advised last night to hire a lawyer to fight efforts of Samuel R. Neider for rezoning in the Harbor Point areas, but members decided to try other means first.

Representatives named by the association to seek a compromise with Neider told a membership meeting they had got nowhere.

"I think we will have a scrap on our hands and maybe what we need is a lawyer and a good one," said Peter L. Humphrey of 235 East Strawberry Drive.

Ralph N. Cole, chairman of the negotiating committee, said Neider "has given us a flat 'no' across the board."

Neider did not attend the meeting nor send a representative. His proposals were read from a statement he had sent.

Following discussion, the association decided to request the county planning commission to postpone the rezoning request, scheduled for hearing Monday, until Oct. 24.

A request for postponement has already been made by the Strawberry Recreation District, said Mrs. James W. Cowen.

Edmond C. Kagi of the county planning department said "I am pretty sure the commission will continue the matter."

Neider, in his letter of counter proposals, proposed to plant a row of pine trees to screen Ricardo Road residences from his proposed apartment buildings.

Committee member Russ R. Lloyd said: "We do not want a screen of trees. That's exactly what we do not want."

Regarding Harbor Point itself, Neider asked the property owners to reconsider their objections to multiple dwellings on filled land.

Regarding Eel Island, he called the association's insistence on 10,000 square foot lots uneconomical. No rezoning from single family dwellings is proposed for Eel Island.

Neider suggested height limits on homes on the island be 20 feet. The committee asked for 15 feet. Regarding a bridge from the mainland to the island, Neider said he could not give an answer at this time. He had proposed a causeway.

Humphrey asked, "Do we have a power of injuncton in case the planning commission OKs this?"

Kagi said the planning commission recommendation would have to go to the board of supervisors.

Steven Koffman, chairman of the Strawberry recreation district, said, "we must first exhaust the administrative remedies before going to the courts." He suggested that residents write letters individually to ask for postponement.

Mrs. Gowen said she would attend the Monday planning commission meeting and deliver any letters from Strawberry property owners.

Kagi suggested the committee invite Felix M. Warburg of Belvedere, new county commissioner, to its next meeting.

Three Airmen Hurt As Car Strikes Pole

Three airmen from Hamilton Air Force Base were injured last night when the car in which they were driving went off Highway 12 in Sonoma County and hit a utility pole.

Lynn Musgrave, 22, Montgomery McCortney, 20, and Frederick E. Dobbs, 22, all airmen second class, were reported in good condition today at the base hospital, after being transferred from Sonoma County Hospital. Musgrave and McCortney suffered head concussions; all had cuts and bruises.

State highway patrol officers reported Musgrave was driving around a curve at 10:20 p.m. Near Madrone, about 15 miles from Santa Rosa. He lost control and the car smashed against the pole.

Coordinator Post For Ross Center

The board of directors of the Marin Art and Garden Center has named Mrs. Dorothy Beesley coordinator for the Center, Mrs. Norman B. Livermore, announced today. Her headquarters are in octagon house, at the center in Ross.

Mrs. Beesley succeeds Mrs. Hammond E. Wright, who resigned recently after serving as coordinator for 10 years, and is now on a trip abroad.

Mrs. Beesley, who served as secretary of the 1959 and 1960 Marin Art and Garden Fairs, resides in Ross with her husband, H. Gordon Beesley. They have two children.

DIET FOR MONEY—Actress Jo Morrow, 20, has a movie contract which pays her $400 a week. But it contains a calory clause that says she must weigh no more than 132 in the buff. The contract was approved in court in Los Angeles, and she holds up an egg for reporters to prove that she can exist on it and lose five pounds to get to the "legal" limit.

Nilson's offer was $153,664. There were three other bids, opened at 4 p.m. yesterday.

DUE CITY COUNCIL

Hub Redevelopment Proposal Detailed

This is what a three-man committee of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce will recommend to the city council at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The committee will also ask that downtown development—which is being studied by the council—be done piecemeal rather than all at once.

Committee members Mozart Kaufman, owner of Kaufman's Department Store; Eugene A. Ostaggi, executive vice president of Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn., and A. N. Nipper of Nipper and Marchant real estate firm, were appointed at a noon meeting of the chamber yesterday.

Advantages of cutting a street parallel to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to chamber manager George G. Washburn, would be to enable businesses fronting San Anselmo Avenue to build across the creek and have two entrances; to provide off-street parking from the new street and to give the town a better appearance from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard by replacing the shabby store backs with inviting front displays.

Piecemeal development was suggested because the chamber felt the job would never be done if the city tried to do it all at once.

The chamber members heard a report on San Anselmo Bargain Days, to be held next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Forty stores will participate in the sale, offering bargains and giving out tickets for $200 in merchandise prizes. Drawing will be held Oct. 17 at 2 p.m. on the city hall lawn by Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

EXPERIENCE SOMETIMES IS WEARING

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Dale Young and Tom Skeels, both 15, walked into a Muskegon surplus store and tried on a pair of handcuffs for size.

When they were firmly cuffed together the boys discovered the key to the set was missing.

The store proprietor took them to the fire department, which cut the chain connecting them.

Then the boys went home and their fathers spent several hours filing the cuffs off their wrists.

America's first industry was a glass factory established at Jamestown, Va., in 1608, a year atfer the colony was founded.

Mrs. FDR, Khrushchev Have Chat, Sip Cocoa

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was cocoa and snacks for an afternoon tea-time social at the fashionable East Side apartment house.

The guests drove up in a chauffered limousine and the hostess was waiting for them in the third-floor living room. Almost no one took notice.

Then Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev, dressed in a conservative grey suit, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of Franklin D. Roosevelt, sat down for a chat.

Mrs. Roosevelt played host to Khrushchev, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov but no one would reveal exactly what they talked about.

Mrs. Roosevelt first met Khrushchev in 1957 in Russia and has seen him several times since.

After a politely timed visit of less than an hour—not too long and not too short—Khrushchev bade farewell and left.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that since Khrushchev's visit was a social call, it just wouldn't be correct to discuss it. Khrushchev apparently felt the same way.

Outside of the white stone house, Theresa Mahoney, an admirer of Mrs. Roosevelt who also had been invited to tea, arrived but police would not let her in until the Khrushchev visit was over.

"Poor Mrs. Roosevelt," said Miss Mahoney, "she won't want to talk with me after talking to that crazy man."

A few minutes later Miss Mahoney was escorted into the house. Mrs. Roosevelt did want to talk with her, and the cocoa was heated up again.

Outside of the white stone house, Theresa Mahoney, an admirer of Mrs. Roosevelt who also had been invited to tea, arrived but police would not let her in until the Khrushchev visit was over.

"Poor Mrs. Roosevelt," said Miss Mahoney, "she won't want to talk with me after talking to that crazy man."

A few minutes later Miss Mahoney was escorted into the house. Mrs. Roosevelt did want to talk with her, and the cocoa was heated up again.

An Ocean, Red Tape, Customs Cannot Obstruct Love's Course

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The vast Pacific Ocean, miles of red tape and ancient family custom are separating Harry Joseph Mack of Ross, executive director of American Cancer Society, Marin County Branch, and the young Korean widow he hopes to wed.

Mack, a widower, first met Yong Je Kim now 28, at a meeting of the American Korean Foundation of which he is a member, in 1958. She was studying French literature at Mills College on a grant. The friendship of the two soon ripened into a romance and when she returned to Korea in 1959, Mack continued the courtship by letter. He was overjoyed when she accepted his proposal of marriage.

The first plan was to have Yong Je Kim, with her three-year-old daughter So Yong, return for the marriage here. Then came a swirl of red tape. Under the immigration laws she could only obtain a tourist's or student's visa, which meant she could not reside here permanently.

A marriage in Yong Je Kim's homeland was decided on. For this a marriage visa was necessary, Mack was informed. This would mean much more red tape. Papers would have to be sent back and forth over the Pacific, hundreds of question had to be answered and many signatures required. This might take months to clear the way for the wedding.

Mack appealed to the American Korean Foundation, the American consul and the Korean consul general and found them sympathetic. The requirement for a marriage visa is now being waived. Two ceremonies will be necessary to unite the couple in marriage. One a religious rite at the Catholic Church in Seoul and the other at the American Embassy in the capital of the South Korean Republic.

But those will have to be delayed for several months as Mack's fiancee wrote that she cannot marry until after Dec. 12. That is the third anniversary of her husband's death. It seems that in Korea a widow does not remarry until her first husband has been dead three years.

With all the legal matters cleared away, Mack is now making plans for the trans-Pacific trip. He will fly from San Francisco on Dec. 14 and soon after his arrival in Seoul on Dec. 16, the two marriage ceremonies will take place. Best man will be Lt. Chong Ilmo of the Korean Navy, who spent a year at Mare Island, returning to his homeland last July.

Also at the ceremonies will be representatives of the Monday English News, a publication for English practice used in the Korean High Schools where it has a circulation of 50,000. Mack is English adviser for the paper.

As for little So Yong there are no complications. She can return with her mother to the United States and the home in Ross as by the marriage she will be automatically adopted by Mack.

Mack for many years has been interested in the Korean people although he has never been in their country. At the present time, he is sponsoring two students. One a nephew of his fiancee by marriage, Ik Su Kim, attends College of Marin. The other, Lt. Col. Rhee, is studying English at the McKinley Adult School in Berkeley.

Kappa Pledges

Recently pledged by Kappa Kappa Gamma were Lyn Cary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Cary of Ross, and Kathy George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. George of Mill Valley. Both girls are attending the University of California at Berkeley.

A reception took place on Sunday at Corte Madera Recreation Center honoring Rev. James J. Healy, pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur on his silver jubilee, the anniversary of his ordination in the priesthood. Attending were many members of the clergy and distinguished laity.

Assisting Father Healy in receiving were his mother, Mrs. Margaret Healy; his sisters, Mrs. Thomas Weadock, Miss Alice Healy, and his brother, Joseph Healy, and representing the parish organizations were Mrs. Ed Albertoni, president of Rosarium Inst. 175; Mrs. Adolph Lubermersky, president of St. Patrick's Guild, and Giulio Boeri, president of the Holy Name Society.

Among the clergy of Marin County greeting Father Healy were Rev. Daniel McAlister of St. Raphael's parish, Rev. John Cunningham and Rev. Donald Kohles of Marin Catholic High School, also many members of Father Healy's former parishes of St. Helena, Sausalito, and Half Moon Bay.

Humane Society Auxiliary Schedules Full Calendar

A full calendar of social and fund-raising events for the remainder of this year and much of the coming year has been scheduled by members of the Humane Society Auxiliary and the recently formed Junior Auxiliary.

On Oct. 18, Mrs. Julian K. Solmonson Jr. will hostess the senior group at her home in Dominican, San Rafael, when plans will be formulated for the annual 'stuffing of the stockings' which takes place in November at the Humane Society's animal shelter in San Rafael. Each year members have filled Christmas stockings with tid-bits and toys and the gayly colored socks are then given to each new owner of an adopted Humane Society pet for its Yuletide gift.

December is the time of the Christmas tree and it is traditional with the auxiliary to forego meetings during the holiday season. Instead members of both groups will be invited to participate in the fun of decorating the tree at the Shelter with a 'bring your special' ornament and stay on for a no-host luncheon.

And looking forward to the new year, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" will be the March project of the combined auxiliaries.

St. Anselm's Setting For Rambke-Davalos Nuptials

St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo was the setting of the recent wedding of Armida L. Davalos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Davalos and Louis B. Rambke, both of San Anselmo.

For the ceremony, performed by Rev. Donald Kelley, the church was decorated with four altar arrangements and two side vases filled with white gladiolas and chrysanthemum.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white nylon organza with a fitted bodice. Both three-quarter length sleeves and scoop neckline had beaded lace, with a full length skirt of lace applique. Her illusion veil fell from a seeded pearl and beaded tiara and a white orchid covered the prayerbook which she carried.

Gowned in full aqua silk organza dresses were the maid of honor, Adeline Lopez of San Dimas, Calif., bridesmaid Margarita Davalos and junior bridesmaid Theresa Davalos, both of San Anselmo. They carried bouquets of white carnations centered with red roses.

Best man for the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rambke of San Anselmo, was Frederick C. Shipley, and ushers were Moises R. Davalos and Alfred Holmen, all of San Anselmo.

The bride attended Tamalpais High School and is employed with the Veterans Administration in San Francisco. She is the sister of Salvador Del Valle of Madrid, Spain, Mrs. Robert P. King of Sausalito; Margarita, Hector and Moises Davalos of San Anselmo and Hanibal Davalos of Hayward.

The couple will reside in San Rafael.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae To Mark Founders' Day Oct. 13

A three-group meeting of Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae will take place on Thursday, Oct. 13, when Marin County members play host to the San Francisco and East Bay chapters at their annual Founders' Day luncheon to be held at the Alta Mira hotel.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Eugene C. Andres Jr., past national president. Acting as toastmistress for the festivities will be Mrs. J. James Pfister of Berkeley, a former province director of chapters. Honor guest is Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin, who in June was honored by the University of California in receiving their first doctorate of Humane Letters. A check toward the university scholarship fund has also been forwarded in her name by the San Francisco chapter.

The fraternity was founded in 1870 at Monmouth College and since has expanded to 88 campuses in the United States and Canada. One of the highlights of the luncheon will be the presentation of pins to 50-year members of the group.

Assisting in introductions will be Mesdames Robert Denebeim and Bernard Ginsberg, presidents of the San Francisco and East Bay chapters, respectively. Also attending will be Miss Ava Powell, former national president, and Mrs. Thomas W. Harris of Belvedere, national chairman of the fraternity's Rose McGill Fund. Coming from Phoenix will be Mrs. James Marshall, province director of alumnae, and joining the group from Fresno will be Mrs. James K. Herbert, province director of chapters.

Mrs. John Fraser, general chairman of the luncheon, announces that the affair will begin at noon. Assisting her on program are Mesdames Leslie Jonas and Alan Conner, while arrangements are being handled by Mesdames Joseph Barish, Dan McIntire and James Laible.

St. Anselm's Setting For Rambke-Davalos Nuptials

St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo was the setting of the recent wedding of Armida L. Davalos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Davalos and Louis B. Rambke, both of San Anselmo.

For the ceremony, performed by Rev. Donald Kelley, the church was decorated with four altar arrangements and two side vases filled with white gladiolas and chrysanthemum.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white nylon organza with a fitted bodice. Both three-quarter length sleeves and scoop neckline had beaded lace, with a full length skirt of lace applique. Her illusion veil fell from a seeded pearl and beaded tiara and a white orchid covered the prayerbook which she carried.

Gowned in full aqua silk organza dresses were the maid of honor, Adeline Lopez of San Dimas, Calif., bridesmaid Margarita Davalos and junior bridesmaid Theresa Davalos, both of San Anselmo. They carried bouquets of white carnations centered with red roses.

Best man for the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rambke of San Anselmo, was Frederick C. Shipley, and ushers were Moises R. Davalos and Alfred Holmen, all of San Anselmo.

The bride attended Tamalpais High School and is employed with the Veterans Administration in San Francisco. She is the sister of Salvador Del Valle of Madrid, Spain, Mrs. Robert P. King of Sausalito; Margarita, Hector and Moises Davalos of San Anselmo and Hanibal Davalos of Hayward.

The couple will reside in San Rafael.

There's a happy "going" in this fall of 1960 in fashions that zing across town and country with equal ease and arrive at any autumn destination calm, cool and collected.

Proving the point fashionably on Tuesday at Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon was United Cerebral Palsy, Inc. of Marin, honored as the outstanding service organization of the week. The models were eight enthusiastic Cerebral Palsy volunteers promenading through the Garden Room and Lanai.

This dedicated important group literally works across town and country throughout Marin to aid the victims of cerebral palsy, always conscious of the important statistic that one child born every 53 minutes will be a victim of CP.

Fashionable go-power for around the clock hustle and bustle was added by Barbara McClure with an appealing, versatile cross-section of fall favorites to suit two moods — bold, bright and beautiful, or soft, subtle and subdued.

Finishing touches in a well-groomed fall were added by a Belvedere salon coiffing each of the models with a "short cut" and June Brusati adding the makeup magic emphasizing the eye-view of autumn.

"Cross Town, Cross Country" in designs from Belvedere

"Aljean of Canada" crafting peacock and lavender wool into a Tartan plaid pleated skirt, wrapped around and hooked with a mammoth pin; the lavender cashmere pullover and Mrs. Charles Knapp adding the extra harmony.

"Youth Guild," for the young in heart, pure red wool, undiluted, spiced with a deep turtle neck collar, a striking gold pin, black calf bag and Mrs. Max Robertson.

"Lanz," for the hostess at home, and Mrs. Charles Loudenback, a drip dry ruffle front shirt with the look and feel of silk; plus a saucy full skirt of red, green and black quilted plain, cinched with a black velvet belt.

Next Tuesday, Fashion Focus says "Stop, Look, Listen" and discovers fashionable hints told by the Delta Zeta Sorority as the honored organization with fashions from a San Rafael specialty shop. Reservations for the 12:30 o'clock luncheon may be made by calling Rickey's.

Proceeds will help furnish the kitchenette at the new church which is being built at Merrydale and San Pedro Roads across from the new Civic Center.

Ross Volunteers Name Officers; Present Service Hour Awards

Election of officers and awards for hours of service were the main orders of business at the recent quarterly meeting of the Ross Hospital Volunteers.

Mrs. Paul Spengler of Ross, founder of the group three years ago, was re-elected president with Mrs. Allan Zeiss of Ross executive vice president; Mrs. William Healy Jr of Belvedere, first vice president in charge of ways and means; Mrs. George Sheppard, Ross, second vice president in charge of orientation; Mrs. Herbert Schuyten, San Rafael, recording secretary; Mrs. John Gaylord, San Anselmo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John F. Allen, Ross, treasurer, and Mrs. Richard Sites, San Anselmo, chairman of public relations.

Dr. John Siemans, Ross General Hospital Administrator, addressed the group and explained new duties for the volunteers. He also presented awards to those members who have accumulated 100 hours or more of volunteer work at and for the hospital.

Since the organization of the groups in 1957 there have been a total of 12,270 hours of volunteer service worked. Those receiving awards were: Mrs. Allen, 527 hours; Mrs. Sheppard, 428; Mrs. E. C. Batdorf, Ross, 415; Miss Virginia Voorhees, Ross, 341; Mrs. Orbie Griffith, San Anselmo, 300; Mrs. Zeiss, 281; Mrs. Josephine Remy, San Anselmo, 242; Mrs. Elmer J. Konetsky, Kentfield, 136, and Mrs. Andrew Klapak, San Anselmo, 129.

Mrs. Spengler announced that since the first of the year 13 women have joined the ranks of the "Rainbow Ladies" as the volunteers are named. They are Mesdames Oscar E. Baan, Sausalito; Robert A. Blakelee, Kentfield; Konetsky, Orton Buckner, Tiburon; James Cockburn, Paul Hartman, Eugene Wilson and Mervyn W. Wehe, Ross; W. W. Macfarlane, Corte Madera; Schuyten, Edwin Christie and Joseph T. Soldavini, San Rafael.

Mrs. Spengler also reported that the Endowed Bed Fund at the hospital which is supported jointly by the volunteers and the Marin County Alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi, has been used three times since its inception. Money for the fund is raised by the two groups and future functions will include bridge luncheons by both organizations and a jointly sponsored Fashion Focus luncheon at Rickey's in December.

There's a happy "going" in this fall of 1960 in fashions that zing across town and country with equal ease and arrive at any autumn destination calm, cool and collected.

Proving the point fashionably on Tuesday at Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon was United Cerebral Palsy, Inc. of Marin, honored as the outstanding service organization of the week. The models were eight enthusiastic Cerebral Palsy volunteers promenading through the Garden Room and Lanai.

This dedicated important group literally works across town and country throughout Marin to aid the victims of cerebral palsy, always conscious of the important statistic that one child born every 53 minutes will be a victim of CP.

Fashionable go-power for around the clock hustle and bustle was added by Barbara McClure with an appealing, versatile cross-section of fall favorites to suit two moods — bold, bright and beautiful, or soft, subtle and subdued.

Finishing touches in a well-groomed fall were added by a Belvedere salon coiffing each of the models with a "short cut" and June Brusati adding the makeup magic emphasizing the eye-view of autumn.

"Cross Town, Cross Country" in designs from Belvedere

"Pants International" for Mrs. Ilio Giusti, tapered in stripes of spruce, cranberry and spice Italian wool, with a matching spruce cashmere cardigan.

"Aljean of Canada" crafting peacock and lavender wool into a Tartan plaid pleated skirt, wrapped around and hooked with a mammoth pin; the lavender cashmere pullover and Mrs. Charles Knapp adding the extra harmony.

"Youth Guild," for the young in heart, pure red wool, undiluted, spiced with a deep turtle neck collar, a striking gold pin, black calf bag and Mrs. Max Robertson.

"Lanz," for the hostess at home, and Mrs. Charles Louderback, a drip dry ruffle front shirt with the look and feel of silk; plus a saucy full skirt of red, green and black quilted plain, cinched with a black velvet belt.

Next Tuesday, Fashion Focus says "Stop, Look, Listen" and discovers fashionable hints told by the Delta Zeta Sorority as the honored organization with fashions from a San Rafael specialty shop. Reservations for the 12:30 o'clock luncheon may be made by calling Rickey's.

Ross Volunteers Name Officers; Present Service Hour Awards

Election of officers and awards for hours of service were the main orders of business at the recent quarterly meeting of the Ross Hospital Volunteers.

Allen, Ross, treasurer, and Mrs. Richard Sites, San Anselmo, chairman of public relations.

Dr. John Siemans, Ross General Hospital Administrator, addressed the group and explained new duties for the volunteers. He also presented awards to those members who have accumulated 100 hours or more of volunteer work at and for the hospital.

Since the organization of the groups in 1957 there have been a total of 12,270 hours of volunteer service worked. Those receiving awards were: Mrs. Allen, 527 hours; Mrs. Sheppard, 428; Mrs. E. C. Konetsky, Kentfield, 136, and Mrs. Andrew Klapak, San Anselmo, 129.

Mrs. Spengler announced that since the first of the year 13 women have joined the ranks of the "Rainbow Ladies" as the volunteers are named. They are Mesdames Oscar E. Baan, Sausalito; Robert A. Blakelee, Kentfield; Konetsky, Orton Buckner, Tiburon; James Cockburn, Paul Hartman, Eugene Wilson and Mervyn W. Wehe, Ross; W. W. Macfarlane, Corte Madera; Schuyten, Edwin Christie and Joseph T. Soldavini, San Rafael.

Mrs. Spengler also reported that the Endowed Bed Fund at the hospital which is supported jointly by the volunteers and the Marin County Alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi, has been used three times since its inception. Money for the fund is raised by the two groups and future functions will include bridge luncheons by both organizations and a jointly sponsored Fashion Focus luncheon at Rickey's in December.

WORLD'S LARGEST

Manufacturer of swimming pools has developed a unit which meets the needs & desires of thousands of pool-hungry families, at a price they can easily afford.

These have sold like hot cakes back East and our firm has been selected to distribute them here in the nation's No. 1 pool market. We, in turn, are appointing agents locally. Marin and Sonoma counties are to be set up immediately.

While this will be of particular interest to builders, building supply dealers, patio & garden shops, etc., this opportunity is uot restricted to them. No experience in this field is needed, but you must be established in your community with a good reputation and a minimum of $1,200 cash or ability to finance this amount fully secured by merchandise. You pay no franchise fee.

No storage problem, as you draw from your local warehouse. Local bank financing has been arranged. Trained assemblers are available, if desired. You may start on a part-time basis.

Thanks to a unique patented invention, fog, wind and rain are no problem, and you will start making money RIGHT NOW.

We've laid all the groundwork — you need only write Box #175 to find whether you qualify, to get in on the beginning with the hottest item ever to hit the swimming pool market

WORLD'S LARGEST
Manufacturer of swimming pools has developed a unit which meets the needs & desires of thousands of pool-hungry families, at a price they can easily afford.
These have sold like hot cakes back East and our firm has been selected to distribute them here in the nation's No. 1 pool market. We, in turn, are appointing agents locally. Marin and Sonoma counties are to be set up immediately.
While this will be of particular interest to builders, building supply dealers, patio & garden shops, etc., this opportunity is not restricted to them. No experience in this field is needed, but you must be established in your community with a good reputation and a minimum of $1,200 cash or ability to finance this amount fully secured by merchandise. You pay no franchise fee.
No storage problem, as you draw from your local warehouse. Local bank financing has been arranged. Trained assemblers are available, if desired. You may start on a part-time basis.
Thanks to a unique patented invention, fog, wind and rain are no problem, and you will start making money RIGHT NOW.
We've laid all the groundwork — you need only write Box #175 to find whether you qualify, to get in on the beginning with the hottest item ever to hit the swimming pool market

Marin Water Supply Good, Officials Say

Water has ceased to be a current worry for Marin County, although storage levels are well below capacity, reports today showed.

Two factors add up to this conclusion: The time of year, with rains just getting under way, and prospects for much greater supplies.

"We're in good shape," said William R. Seeger, general manager for Marin Municipal Water District. "Things are about average, better than this time last year—and completion of the Nicasio project will fix us up."

THIRD OF CAPACITY

Jerome Gilbert, manager of the North Marin Water District, said storage is perhaps a third of total capacity, which is "enough to get us through" but with some possible problems before delivery of water from the Russian River project scheduled for completion a year hence.

Marin Municipal District is better off on that score, for the Nicasio dam, with capacity of 7.3 billion gallons, is expected to be finished in another 27 working days, to catch water from this winter's rains and have it available for next dry season.

Seeger said Alpine Lake now has about a billion gallons, one-third capacity; Bon Tempe has another billion, with 1.3 billion capacity, and Kent has about half capacity, with 2.7 billion against 5½ billion capacity.

'ROLLING ALONG'

Seeger described the Nicasio work as "rolling along nicely" with the dam now up 35 feet of the 115-foot eventual total.

Present storage of the North Marin district, Gilbert said, is about half a billion gallons, or about 1,500 acre feet.

In view of the fact that his district will have to get through one more summer before extra water is available, Gilbert stressed that "the important thing is the amount of rainfall this winter to last us over 'til we get Russian River water."

Present North Marin water is from the Novato Creek watershed, impounded at Stafford Dam. The total capacity is 1:5 billion gallons. Present storage will be satisfactory if rainfall for the season is average, according to Gilbert. But if the fall proves subnormal, he feels some measures of conservation may become necessary.

'SAFE SUPPLY'

A "safe supply" of about 3.5 billion gallons a year can be depended on from the new Russian River resource, said Gilbert, contrasting with the present safe supply from Stafford Lake of only about three-quarters of a billion gallons.

Engineering plans for the Russian River project are nearing completion, according to Gilbert. Activities are being coordinated with Sonoma County so it should be possible to reach the bid stage during the first part of November.

In contrast with the present generally favorable Marin County water position, San Francisco water in mountain reservoirs is reportedly at the lowest level of the past five years. They provide about 60 per cent of the city's supply.

Novato Merchants Want Street Paved

Girl, 9, Wins Tam Club Swim Trophy

Tamalpais Swim Club's perpetual trophy has been awarded to Valerie Gross, Coach Bob Casci announced yesterday.

The trophy is awarded once a month to the team's most inspirational swimmer, most improved in technique and timing along with regular attendance and continued interest in learning.

Miss Gross is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Gross of Mill Valley.

Love Mill Valley Contest Ends Sunday Midnight

Entries in radio station KTIM's "Why I Love Mill Valley" contest range all the way from poetry to prayers, station manager Hugh Turner said today, as he noted that a Sunday midnight postmark is the deadline for entries.

In conjunction with the Southern Marin community's diamond jubilee, KTIM is offering five small diamonds as prizes for the five best letters on "Why I Love Mill Valley." Any Marin resident may enter, Turner said, noting that so far about half the entries are from non-residents from Mill Valley.

Winners will be announced on the "Man on the Street" program at 12:30 p.m., Wednesday, with the winners reading their own entries into the microphone, Turner said.

Ahead Of Average

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—Vermonters drank more beer and ale last year than the national average, according to the U.S. Brewers Foundation. Per capita consumption was 16 gallons compared to a national rate of 15.3 gallons.

Muir Beach Due Paving Of Street

Sunset Way, one of Muir Beach's two roads, is going to be paved.

The road, which starts at Shoreline Highway and runs to Spindrift Point, is being paved by the property owners, who have collected the money for the job, John White, secretary of the Muir Beach Community Services District, said today. The contract is expected to be awarded soon, White said, and the aim is to get the pavement in before the heavy rains.

He said the district last night approved the replacement of five 20-year-old service pipelines which go under the existing road.

Marin Water Supply Good, Officials Say

Water has ceased to be a current worry for Marin County, although storage levels are well below capacity, reports today showed.

Two factors add up to this conclusion: The time of year, with rains just getting under way, and prospects for much greater supplies.

"We're in good shape," said William R. Seeger, general manager for Marin Municipal Water District. "Things are about average, better than this time last year—and completion of the Nicasio project will fix us up."

THIRD OF CAPACITY

Jerome Gilbert, manager of the North Marin Water District, said storage is perhaps a third of total capacity, which is "enough to get us through" but with some possible problems before delivery of water from the Russian River project scheduled for completion a year hence.

Marin Municipal District is better off on that score, for the Nicasio dam, with capacity of 7.3 billion gallons, is expected to be finished in another 27 working days, to catch water from this winter's rains and have it available for next dry season.

Seeger said Alpine Lake now has about a billion gallons, one-third capacity; Bon Tempe has another billion, with 1.3 billion capacity, and Kent has about half capacity, with 2.7 billion against 5½ billion capacity.

'ROLLING ALONG'

Seeger described the Nicasio work as "rolling along nicely" with the dam now up 35 feet of the 115-foot eventual total.

Present storage of the North Marin district, Gilbert said, is about half a billion gallons, or about 1,500 acre feet.

In view of the fact that his district will have to get through one more summer before extra water is available, Gilbert stressed that "the important thing is the amount of rainfall this winter to last us over 'til we get Russian River water."

Present North Marin water is from the Novato Creek watershed, impounded at Stafford Dam. The total capacity is 1:5 billion gallons. Present storage will be satisfactory if rainfall for the season is average, according to Gilbert. But if the fall proves subnormal, he feels some measures of conservation may become necessary.

'SAFE SUPPLY'

A "safe supply" of about 3.5 billion gallons a year can be depended on from the new Russian River resource, said Gilbert, contrasting with the present safe supply from Stafford Lake of only about three-quarters of a billion gallons.

Engineering plans for the Russian River project are nearing completion, according to Gilbert. Activities are being coordinated with Sonoma County so it should be possible to reach the bid stage during the first part of November.

In contrast with the present generally favorable Marin County water position, San Francisco water in mountain reservoirs is reportedly at the lowest level of the past five years. They provide about 60 per cent of the city's supply.

Tamalpais Swim Club's perpetual trophy has been awarded to Valerie Gross, Coach Bob Casci announced yesterday.

The trophy is awarded once a month to the team's most inspirational swimmer, most improved in technique and timing along with regular attendance and continued interest in learning.

Love Mill Valley Contest Ends Sunday Midnight

Entries in radio station KTIM's "Why I Love Mill Valley" contest range all the way from poetry to prayers, station manager Hugh Turner said today, as he noted that a Sunday midnight postmark is the deadline for entries.

In conjunction with the Southern Marin community's diamond jubilee, KTIM is offering five small diamonds as prizes for the five best letters on "Why I Love Mill Valley." Any Marin resident may enter, Turner said, noting that so far about half the entries are from non-residents from Mill Valley.

Winners will be announced on the "Man on the Street" program at 12:30 p.m., Wednesday, with the winners reading their own entries into the microphone, Turner said.

Ahead Of Average

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—Vermonters drank more beer and ale last year than the national average, according to the U.S. Brewers Foundation. Per capita consumption was 16 gallons compared to a national rate of 15.3 gallons.

Muir Beach Due Paving Of Street

Sunset Way, one of Muir Beach's two roads, is going to be paved.

The road, which starts at Shoreline Highway and runs to Spindrift Point, is being paved by the property owners, who have collected the money for the job, John White, secretary of the Muir Beach Community Services District, said today. The contract is expected to be awarded soon, White said, and the aim is to get the pavement in before the heavy rains.

He said the district last night approved the replacement of five 20-year-old service pipelines which go under the existing road.

Catholic High Choosing Queen In Ticket Sales

Marin Catholic High School is in the midst of a ticket-selling frenzy which will choose a homecoming queen and incidentally finance the school's whole sports program.

Seven junior girls were picked last spring as most popular candidates to be balloted on by the student body this fall. Student supporters of the candidates sell as many season tickets as possible for Marin Catholic home football games. The winner will be presented at half-time of the Marin Catholic-Drake High game Oct. 15.

Contestants are Sandy Archer, Ardelle Bloom, Teri Coulter, Diane Gooch, Maxine Iribarne, Joan Moran and Sue Smith.

Crowning of the queen will be at 10:15 p. m. Saturday as climax of the homecoming dance. Sale of season tickets in this contest is Marin Catholic's sole means of financing the whole sports program.

MARIN INVESTIGATING POSSIBLE INTEREST IN UNINHABITED ISLE

Marin County may or may not have an interest in the Red Rock Island controversy in San Francisco over possible taxing of a rocky islet just south of San Rafael-Richmond Bridge.

The six-acre island is best known as a fishing spot for Marin anglers. The island hit the news this week with a news story that San Francisco Assessor Russel L. Wolden is thinking of looking over the island to see how much it is worth.

Some of it is believed to be within Contra Costa County, and a portion may lie within Marin County.

Marin's Asst. Assessor Herschel Johnson said his office is investigating to see what, if any, portion is within Marin.

San Francisco lawyer William J. Murphy contends two of his clients in Belmont own 10/18s of the uninhabited island. "If the city wants to tax Red Rock, then the owners should be entitled to the same benefits other taxpayers received," he is quoted as saying. Murphy went on to talk about such benefits as police protection and sanitary services.

Lagunitas School Expansion Sought

Another three acres of land should be acquired to accommodate proposed expansion of Lagunitas School, trustees were told Wednesday night by architect Morton Rosse.

The school grounds now consist of seven acres.

Decision was made to proceed with appraisals while determinating placement and other details of the intended five extra classrooms and multi-purpose room. Bond and loan measures for $290,000 for the expansion were approved by the district's voters Sept. 20.

Sour Happening

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Police weren't sure if the burglars who entered the Youngo Beverage Co. had sweet teeth or unquenchable thirsts. Police said the burglars took a 100-pound bag of sugar and 25 cases of assorted soft drinks.

Gilbert-Shirley Firm Moves To New Offices

Gilbert-Shirley Co., Inc., and its affiliates, Translucent Forms Co. and Marin Lithograph Inc., have moved their offices from 1539 Fourth Street to a new building at 448 Du Bois Street, San Rafael.

The 5,000 square-foot structure was designed and built by William H. McDevitt Co.

In 1955, Shirley introduced a new translucent income tax form for use by tax accountants with office reproduction equipment.

The steady increase in both translucent tax forms and peg board supplies subsequently gave impetus to organization of Translucent Forms Co. and Marin Lithograph Inc. Associated with Shirley in the companies are John D. Murphy of San Anselmo as vice president and Warren Redding, San Rafael, as secretary.

The firms are now selling some 10 million forms to more than 4,000 accountants in 40 states, Shirley said. The new quarters were considered necessary for further expansion into the fields of commercial offset printing, copying services for architects and engineers, and stocking additional copying machines and supplies.

Five Marinites Enlist For Air Force Duty

Five young Marin men have enlisted in the Air Force and been sent to Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., for basic training.

They are Lee F. Enemark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Enemark of 170 Main Drive, San Rafael; William N. Murray, son of Mrs. E. Emond of 1041 First Street, Novato; Clifford D. Carrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Carrick of 148 Domingo Avenue, Fairfax; Gary E. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Johnson of 20 Edna Court, Kentfield, and Milton N. Hollmann of Woodacre.
